The word commitment is often a difficult word for some to spell. More unfortunate however, is the lamentable truth that it is often a difficult word for some to fulfill. Sadly, this year's Review team tested this statement and found it to be painfully accurate. For various reasons the book's editors were daunted by the difficult task of piecing together the year's events and carrying the job to its completion. The challenge was left to incoming editors who began their baptism under fire earlier than was wished.

However, out of the smoldering ashes sprang a new phoenix; taking its strength from the very adversity that had threatened to strangle it and demonstrating a renewed vigour and commitment as it struggled for life. If anything positive came out of this apparent catastrophe, it was the fact that it forced us to commit to produce pages using computer programs such as PageMaker 4 and Corel Draw. At this point I would like to thank the members of the Ladies Guild for their generous gift of the Review's 486 computer and large-screen monitor which enabled us to make this bold transition. Our sports pages demonstrate the effectiveness of this new technology. Next year's book will rely almost exclusively on our expertise in this area.

My hearty thanks to those who took over the task: Cyril Yee, Bernie Micalizzi, Chris Foster, and Jason Worry. These students worked stoically and effectively under strained conditions as they laboured to meet a long gone deadline as well as the critical response of their peers. If there are flaws in the book, they only serve to highlight the formidable challenges and risks that were necessary in order to hurry the Review to its completion. Other such constraints that faced this year's book were budget cutbacks and the lack of advertising that is so necessary to offset the rising costs of colour production. Readers may observe that some colour in this year's book was sacrificed in response to our budgetary commitment.

Commendations must go to Raymond Chuk whose superb photographic skills breathe much of the life contained in these pages. Albert Poon, Simon Hall, Michael Foy, and Geoff Cattrall, also helped take pictures for the school. Deserved credit is also shared by Tyler Sandilands, Kevin Mertens, and Tim Morrissey who worked on preliminary sections of the book.

Finally, the Review is grateful for the help and encouragement given by staff members Mr. R. Bedard, Mr. J. Herder, Mr. D. Whitehead, Mrs. A. Osmond, and Ms. S. Marsh. Their assistance and advice was, as usual, invaluable.

Clan Awards

Once again as Coordinator of the Clans I was delighted by the large number of students who chose this year to take part in the process of applying for and receiving their clan colours. This is a sign of the healthy competitive spirit in the houses, and a reflection of our desire to recognize those students who really make a difference to life in our school. Public presentation of awards takes place on two occasions during the year: at the St. Andrew's Day Banquet on November 30th and at a morning assembly near the end of the school year. Our special guests on those two occasions were respectively John D. Stewart and Ian Howey. Both spoke appropriately and with feeling.

Clans compete head to head in the cross-country run, the one act play festival and the intramural track and field meet. There are three areas in which points can be gained toward the winning of the Housser Trophy: academics, extracurricular activities exclusive of sports, and Andrean representative sports teams. Point totals are computed on a per capita basis so that the size of the house has no bearing on the outcome.

A couple of observations about the final standings which were announced on Prize Day. First of all we had a repeat winner—a happy way for Mr. Swan to commence his house mastership. If you want to know the reason why, reflect on the high level of involvement in this house and the titanic contributions of a handful of key house members. Equally significant, however, may be the quiet and determined way in which Leslie clan under Mr. Somerville are closing the gap between first and second. They have surpassed Ramsey as top sports clan in the school and they proved this decisively on Track and Field Day. Next year's race will be very interesting indeed.

First in competition for the Housser Trophy then was: Ramsey with 5232 points. The trophy was presented by Mr. John Housser of the Board of Governors to clan captain Matt Chisholm on behalf of his clan mates. Second came Leslie with 5136 points and quite a way; back as top boarder clan was MacPherson with 3827. If a prize were to be given for the single most spirited clan member in Upper School it would have been awarded to Ali Khonsari of MacPherson Clan.

The Robertson Laidlaw Trophy presented annually to the boy who in the last two years of his career earns the greatest number of points for his clan was presented to Michael Worry of Ramsey Clan. He was closely followed by three other students who all earned their bar to first colours for totals that exceeded not only the statutory 350 points, but which also broke the 450 level as well. This is a rare achievement and congratulations are extended not only to Michael but also to Paul Arhanic, Allan Bestand Ian Michael.

My thanks to all who took part at any level and contributed by their loyalty and good sportsmanship.

Thanks to Mr. Hanson and Mr. Whitehead who do the most to foster spirit and friendly competition between the clans in the lower school. Mr. Hanson with the help of the clan captains and council members has made the clan system a vital part of the residence experience. And who can forget the Trans-Shads tug-of-war contests staged by Mr. Whitehead?

This year's winner of the Rupert J. Ray Trophy for the topclan in Macdonald House was once again Bruce clan captained by Tarek Juman and Ryan Sommerville. The Hockin Trophy is competed for by the five clans in Lower School. This year Douglas Clan of Laidlaw House led by Fred Perowne won the trophy with 1738 points. They were followed by Bruce with 1558 and then by Montrose and Roberston who finished in a dead heat for third with 1505 each.

St. Andrew's College might be a calm and quiet place when compared with the turbulence of the world outside its gates, but in its own terms, it has had a busy and exciting year. Such a stellar school year would not have been possible without tremendous support. I'm thinking particularly of the countless people who give unstintingly of their time, talent and effort, and without whom St. Andrew's College simply couldn't function. Thank you is painfully inadequate.

Ladies Guild

Each Guild year brings to St. Andrews its own unique flavour and features. In 1991/92, two such special events delighted everyone.

In April "the Red and White" dinner/dance/auction brought the entire Andrean family together. It was a wonderfully fun evening as we partied and danced with the "Martels".

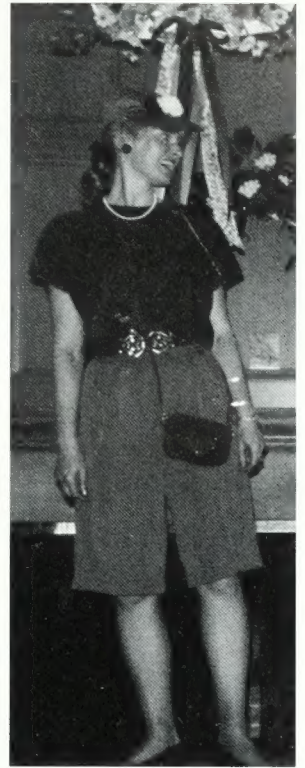

Ladies Guild

The success of this joint effort by Ladies Guild & Association produced the resources to launch an endowment fund, henceforth to be named the Ladies Guild Endowment Fund.

An enchanting and refreshing fashion show presented at the Guild annual General meeting in May, entertained and excited everyone with new fashion ideas for Spring and Summer.

Development Office

Homecoming 1991 marked the retirement of David M. Dunlap as Chairman of the S.A.C. Foundation. Mr. Dunlap, class of '56, had served the school for eleven years in the past. Under his leadership the school built the new computer science wing of the McLaughlin Science Building and a capital campaign from 1988 to 1991 completed the sports complex by adding three squash courts and our beautiful pool.

At the Board of Governors meeting held the morning of Homecoming, Mr. Dunlap was presented with a captain's chair by Peter D.G. Harris, Board Chairman. Mr. Harris noted the recent accomplishments of the development arm of the school including the increase in the Endowment Fund. Mr. Harris announced that Mr. David L. Rea '53 had been elected the new Chairman of the Foundation at the annual meeting held on September 26, 1991.

The Foundation role on campus is carried out by Mr. James Herder '64 assisted by Mrs. Sandra Scott, Mrs. Edna Collins and Mr. Douglas Worling '50, who is organising the school's archives.

Choir

This has been another outstanding year of growth and achievement. The present group of singers has achieved more and with higher quality than any group before it. It is with great pride that the events of this past season are reviewed. This choir is a vibrant and successful member of an active community. Its continued existence speaks of the support which it has received from the school and from the relentless commitment of its members. Many thanks to all.

This year's Prefects enjoyed a busy and productive school year. Setting the tone and demonstrating leadership in all of their activities, they provided a strong basis for the fostering of school spirit. Largely due to their efforts and enthusiasm, the student body carried the year to its successful conclusion.

Debating

There are good years and there are really good years. This was one of the latter. The most significant factor was the presence of a core of key debaters who had spent five to seven years in the program. Add to the mix several outstanding individuals, a little luck, a lot of dedication, and you have the recipe for much satisfaction and success.

Executive and Fulfords

Let's start with the veterans who gave leadership and contributed their talents. President Allan Best and V.P.'s Michael Worry, Paul Arhanic and Ian Michael between them had over 25 years of active debating experience. Cyril Yee, Ryan Lawlor and Leo Arhanic filled out the executive. This was never more evident than in February when after a hiatus of five years it was our turn to host the Fulford Tournament -- a mighty task with both junior and senior teams attending from the other sixteen member schools. We did them proud, if we do say so ourselves.

Michael wrote "the mother of all scoring programs" and oversaw every element of the logistics. Allan made the day "user-friendly" and fun for the student participants, and Mr. Ray spent the weeks before writing to every friend of SAC debating near and far so we ended up with about 80 judges -- five to every room. We did not compete in this one, just put our minds wholly to being good hosts. Mr. Arril helped to keep all the elements functioning smoothly and the school put on a really good show. At the end of the day Lakefield and Toronto French School were tied for possession of the Fulford itself while U.T.S. were out in front for the Bryan Jones Trophy at the junior level. Next year we look forward to welcoming into the league two new schools, St. Michael's and Country Day.

Two Top Trophies

Two events towered over the first term and each resulted in a title and fine piece of silverware to fill the display case in the breezeway. First we defended the Headmasters' Trophy in home and home competition with Toronto French School coached by an old friend of debating, Mr. John Aimers, known to us from his distinguished tenure at Appleby College and before that at St. John's-Ravenscourt in Winnipeg. We proposed the resolution, "Anger is the temper of our times" and proceeded to prepare both sides of the issue.

The away team opposing the bill was made up of Robert Leckey and Ryan McNally while the government at home was Allan Best and Michael Worry, performing before the entire school. Mr. Aimers and his team were not phased by the boisterous atmosphere that we tend to provide, but in the end SAC eked out a narrow victory in both locations and won the honour of holding onto the trophy for another year. Mr. Aimers has accepted an appointment to the Allen-Stevenson School on the upper east side of New York City. We shall miss his comradeship in the league; we wish him well in his new situation; and we know that we shall be staying in touch and hopefully forging a link with a new school south of the border.

To the Worlds

The other event which guaranteed that 91-92 will be remembered as a very good debating year was the performance of the team we sent to the International Independent Schools Public Speaking Tournament which was hosted by Balmoral Hall School in Winnipeg. After selecting and coaching the team of three, Malcolm Ross, Ryan McNally and Robert Leckey, Mr. Ray decided he must stick by the soccer team that he was preparing for their national tournament, so he entrusted the honour of being the team's coach and chaperone to Mr. David Dawson. We knew we were sending a fine team, but we didn't know how fine, until the results of the boys' nine events were computed and combined to reveal that St. Andrew's was the winner of the C.S.D.F. Trophy awarded to the top Canadian school, a title that had been claimed repeatedly in the past by S.J.R. There were also in attendance schools from England, Malta, Bermuda and the United States.

What a memorable triumph this was! To make it all even better Ryan had qualified to be part of the Canadian champion destined to attend the World Public Speaking Championship to be hosted by Aylesbury Grammar School in England and Robert was an alternate delegate. Ryan's trip took place during the March break and he combined a strong speaking performance, a dozen from the top overall, with some travel and visits to relatives around Great Britain. Although we lose Malcolm to university both Ryan and Robert will be returning to defend their Best-in-Canada trophy at the next International event to be held in Port Hope, Ontario.

Provincials and Nationals

Term two as I have said was dominated by the Fulfords. There were of course the usual tournaments from week to week that we deliberated over at our weekly Tuck Shop meetings, but one event that deserves mention is the social debate that was staged between three of our present seniors and three former debaters who returned to brush up their old skills. Our guests on this particular evening were Stephen Suarez, John D. Stewart and Stephen Ardill. It proved to be a rewarding idea for both groups and we hope to do this again in the future with other teams of alumnae. Before this term was over we competed in the Regionals and qualified to send three students to the Provincials that would be held in Kitchener-Waterloo come April.

Allan Best attended for the fourth year in a row, this time as a coordinator of French and bilingual debating; Robert and Ryan -- best referred to as "R and R" -- both competed in the English division. Mr. Ray attended in his capacity of Governor of the Ontario Student Debating Union. Although Robert was losing his voice, both he and Ryan spoke well, but the level of competition was higher than ever before and this just kept them out of the top ten. Mr. Ray, however, did have the good fortune of going on to the Nationals in Edmonton where he finished up a six year term on the Board of Directors of the Canadian Student Debating Federation. As a result of his contribution to debate among Canadian young people over the past fifteen years he was honoured by the Ontario government with Volunteer Service Award.

Kilts at Soma

Term Three seemed to be unusually busy. Thanks to Mr. Arril and the students like Ian Michael who were active with our juniors we had several engagements at other schools. Eventually Wallace Yuen was chosen as winner of Mitchell Trophy as best Junior of the year. This was also the time for two annual public speaking events, the Churchill Medals and the T.C.S. Tournament. To both of these we sent as our representative a new student in grade thirteen, Daniel Poarch from Virginia. He showed real flair -- wish we had him with us for longer.

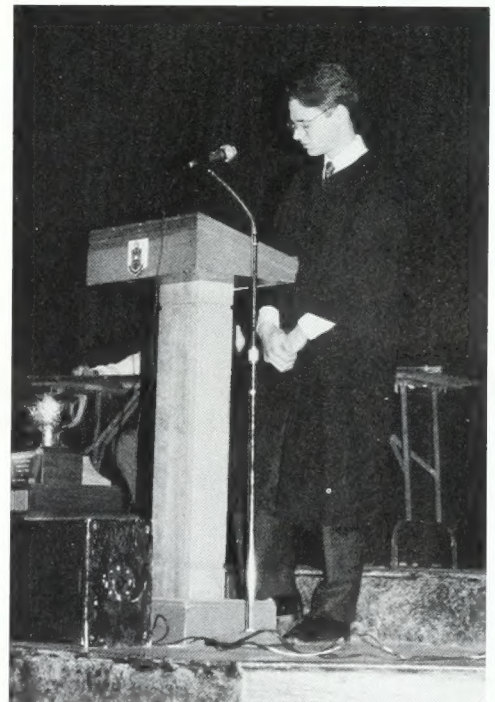

In addition there was the Southern Ontario Model Parliament held during Cadet Week. Allan Best effectively marshalled our eight-man delegation and for the first time ever he had the joy of representing not only Chile, but also one of the world's major powers, the United Kingdom. This gave the chaps a chance to wear their kilts and to no one's surprise they were recognized as the best dressed delegation over the four days. More to the point they were voted the best prepared and most articulate delegation in attendance. Congratulations are in order once again.

Valedictory

So you can see why this was a very good year, one of the best ever. My thanks to all who took advantage of the opportunities and got involved.

We have lost some very strong debaters; they will be missed, but I have no doubt that others will rise up to fill their shoes. In "R and R" we have two dedicated and effective co-Presidents who will lead the Debating Society during the year to come. We shall also miss the support of a good friend, Mr. John Morrissey, who with the graduation of first Liam and then Tim, will be moving with his wife back to Ireland. "God go with you, John." I shall always associate this beautiful salutation and farewell with you. Thankyou for reminding us of what is important not only in debating but also in life!

It's been a long tough haul but well worth the trip. When I started off in grade nine I was more than skeptical about the benefits of attending St. Andrew's. I'm leaving today with pride knowing I've become a link in the Old Boy network.

Thanks Mom and Dad for all those hours of worrying about me and my future. I hope you feel the sacrifice was worthwhile. Thank you Mr. Whitehead for being there for me and Mr. Swan for putting up with me. Thanks Mr. Hiltz for teaching me to be professional and Mr. Ray - thanks for being so easy going.

The greatest part of attending SAC was seeing my friends everyday. Without them I would have burned out long ago. The daily common room talk was my sanctuary. Thanks Rocco, Knives, Doggie, Crusty, House, Boom, Drugs, Gomer, Octo, and J.D. Toad, I'm not forgetting you...wanna go for a sub?

The seven year road is a long one not much travelled, and I missed the off-ramp. What I take with me when I leave the gates for the last time cannot be expressed in words alone. The only feeling I've had stronger than my reluctance to come here in grade seven is the reluctance to leave which I now feel at the end of grade thirteen. There's one word which describes what St. Andrew's means to me. Home. To my teachers, thanks for giving me a chance to do a bit of everything. To my friends, you made it all worthwhile. To my Mom and Dad, thanks for making me go and letting me stay. To my brother, Leo, it always works out in the end, keep on keepin' on. Life goes on, let my absolut memories live.

It has been seven years since I first drove up that long driveway to Mac house. Back then, I was just a weird little boy with a funny hair cut. As I look back on the past seven years I realize that the hair cut is still the same but the boy has changed. SAC has been a time of growing up. I've experienced the good, the bad and the unmentionable, but always, I've had a good time. Thanks to Martin, Aiti and Isi, I know you're not together anymore but I'm glad you've found new happiness. I don't think I will ever have a memory of St. Andrew's College without first thinking of those who gave me the best years of my life. And it has become Mom and Dad, I realize now what you have both sacrificed in order to give your kids the best. It seemed such a long lived, fun-filled experience that you thought would never end. The realization of your scholastic career being terminated can bring about desolation or felicity, but mainly illumination. Those teachers who were the beacons of my destination helped guide me on this pensus when others would have apostatized and deluded me. Mr.Foy, Mr.Stuart and Snuffleupagus, keep those beacons shining bright. The friends I have made here who put up with my annoying and acerbic behaviour; I thank you for the comiseration, equanimity and allegiance you have given me. Lastly, thanks to my Mom, who has always seemed to be right, for the reassuring trust and love she has given me.

Thanks to: Jaja for being a good listener and for his continuous food supply thru the year. Shiv for being an extremely tidy roommate. Rich, Ian, and Ringo for recycling me once in a while, I really enjoyed it! Willard for being a geek and kicking on my door while I was sleeping. Johnny for being my buddy and my "friend forever"! In the short period I have been at St. Andrew's I have come to appreciate the many opportunities that this school holds. Certainly it is true that one gets out of this experience what one has put into it. Unfortunately this adage wasn't always uppermost in my mind, but all in all, the stay here has been an enriching one in many ways. I am grateful to the many people who have shown their concern and tried to foster the best in me. I leave with many memories of school life both in and out of the classroom. Thanks to my friends for their support and encouragement. Onward and upward.

I would like to thank the School for the many opportunities which abounded here. Unfortunately, I did not avail myself of these to the fullest and so perhaps did not fulfill the potential that I might have done. However, in particular, I would like to thank Mr. Paolini for the enriching guidance in the art program and to my housemaster Mr. Kimmerer for constantly trying to make sure I fulfilled my obligations and duties to the House despite my propensity for making myself elusive. Thanks also to my friends and best wishes to those I leave behind. I am grateful for the experience, St. Andrew's!

Mr. Bedard, Mr. Herder, and Mr. Smith: you gave me the opportunities which made me what I am. Mr. Dunford and Mr. Kimmerer: your effort and time for me can never be repaid, but I hope to make you proud. Bambi, Cisco, Kid, Zwing, Mon, Lolls, Robes, and Ali: you've helped me through it all. You guys are the best and I'll never forget you. Good luck to the guys returning; take your opportunities to the fullest. A special thanks goes to my family. SAC is a great school! If I say I am climbing a cliff, then SAC just pulled me to the top! Through the extensive care of teachers like Mr. Hiltz, Mr. Walden, Mr. Perrier, Mr. Jones and Mr. Kimmerer, I developed my own independence as well as enriched my knowledge. Since, if I use words to express how I appreciate them it will be understated, I would rather have been able to express my thanks to my mom, dad, teachers, coaches and friends through a mathematical equation.

Activities: I & II Soccer, I Cricket, II Squash, Head of Mac House, Passport Crew, Late night liming, Cricket in the halls, Member of Deek's Resort.

I remember my first day at SAC, having tea in Mr. Bedard's back yard. I remember the apprehension and insecurity and the feeling that I looked like a monkey, dressed in a jacket and tie for only the second time. After two years here, the future seems a little less daunting. The monkey feeling, however, remains.

I leave SAC with many good memories: the time Second Soccer nearly won our league, long (somewhat one-sided) talks with Mrs. Ash in the book-room and the trek up the hill to Mac house in the dead-of-night. I also depart with a few not-so-great ones: the smell of fish on Friday night, banging my head against the squash court glass and the discovery that I was on duty for "the best weekend of the term."

Thanks to Mr. Robo (my squash mentor), Mrs. Lamb and Mrs. Barr for their timely smiles and the West Indian Posse for two raving years. Last of all, thanks to my parents. Now I understand the reasoning behind the sacrifice.

My four years at SAC have been years of enjoyment and maturing; from pumpkin smashing in Grade 10 to Prefect in Grade 13. The great friends and the good times will always be in my mind. George and Shis, you guys rule. Thanks Matt, Zwing, Rob and Ken for being great friends and for giving me a "home away from home". Mr. Perrier, you have been a great teacher, housemaster and friend; I thank you. Mr. Hanson, thanks for the guidance and confidence you've shown me. Good luck next year to Sean, and Matt. To my parents John and Marg, thank you for all the patience, sacrifices and finances you have given me: I owe you everything that I am and will be.

My five years at SAC have been great. I have learned a tremendous amount both in and out of the classroom. I'll remember a lot about SAC; the teachers, the sports, the activities, even cadets. Yet what I'll remember most about SAC are the buddies I have made here. Without them, I wouldn't have made it. Thanks Lodi, Shill, Stu, Chip, Gome, Knives, House, Drugs, Boom, Jim, Dan. Thank you also Mr. Swan, Mr. Ray, Mr. Walden and Mr. Timms for being awesome teachers. Thanks goes of course to my parents who wisely sent me to SAC and always supported me whether my marks were up or down. Thanks for the good times SAC.

My time at SAC was short but well spent. St. Andrew's was definitely a learning experience for me. First I want to thank my parents, especially my father, for giving me the opportunity to obtain a good education with his hard work. Also I want to thank all the guys who gave me their support throughout these two years: Dixie, Marek, Jeff, Rich, Bob, Fats, Dave, Nick, Ken, Paul, Shiv, etc. Finally, special thanks must go to the school for helping me a lot in my last year. My thanks to Mr. Perrier and Mr. Josselyn, who gave their friendship and got me out of trouble a lot of times. This one is for you Dad!

Unbelievable! I'm actually at the end of my seven year stop-over here at SAC. I started as a kid from Palgrave (sniper!) and I now leave a much bigger man ... in many areas. To my friends at SAC I owe a lot, and so I thank them: Doug, Dan, Rocco, Shilly, Stu, Carl, Scott, Brent, Darcy (doesn't your sister have that haircut?), and of course ... GINOUI! The common room was never the same without you. I also thank: Allan, Paul, Shin, Dave, Flo, Rich, and the rest of the guys and the teachers who did more for me than give tests: Mr. Whitehead, Mr. Hiltz (Michelle and Joel... what a PAIR!), Mr. "Hacksaw" Giel. You taught me patience, discipline, and why people make accountant jokes! Lastly, and most importantly, I'd like to thank my parents. You're the greatest! You have always looked out for me, and I love you for it. Later S.A.C.!

Although this was my first year at St. Andrew's, it has been a memorable one. This school has taught me discipline and great study habits. I was a little wary at the start of the year when I was trying to decide whether to come or not. I think I made a great choice. It was a good move on the part of my parents to let me attend this fine school. I would like to take this opportunity to thank them. Thanks Mom and Dad. Throughout this year, I've met some great, close friends and I have shared many good times. I'll miss these people and this school, but I will cherish this memory forever.

My two years at SAC have come and gone, and I honestly cannot say it was a waste. A lot of memorable experiences have happened here, ones that I will cherish forever. Special thanks to my Mom and Dad, for giving me the opportunity to attend SAC, and the courage for them to believe in me. To Mom and Dad, I love you. SAC has taught me much more than how to beat books, but I have also learnt to be responsible and independent. This school helped not only my mind to grow, but also my character.

Special thanks to the posse: Fatboy, Clarke, Shiv, Skelly, Fraser, Monaghan, Thwaites, Carlos, Red Man, Lue, Andre, Dywan. Without these life-long friends, my stay here would have been unbearable. Although I'd rather be in Oakville, I guess St. Andrew's was a pretty good place all-in-all. Apologies to those I offended and thanks to those who overlooked any deficiencies and offered support and encouragement instead of condemnation. I leave with fond memories of shared experiences, good times and good friends. There is a lot offered here for those who want to embrace the opportunities. Thanks St. Andrew's for at least showing me the doors even if I didn't open all of them.

A close relative of mine spent six years pacing through S.A.C.'s hallowed halls, and left behind as his sole legacy a suitable quote from the Antichrist. My six years at St. Andrew's have instead brought me to an "overwhelming question". I must ask myself, as well as every other student, and ask this school - what the heck is an Andrean, and when it really comes down to the grind, am I one? Six years at S.A.C. haven't really taught me the essentials of succeeding in life. To succeed, one must have an appearance, a look of success. I've already failed in that respect - I haven't learned to iron my shirt, to wear pants without holes, or shoes that aren't falling apart. My own parents (God bless their weary souls) frequently comment that I am a slob, and a bum. Even so, I want to thank them, and also anyone else who needs or wants thanking (I'm not going to leave a list of initials a mile long - you guys know who you are) for getting me through a final year at S.A.C. I wish all my friends staying at S.A.C. next year the best of luck with anything they might do. Just remember, "Nolite bastardes carborundum", no matter how hard they try.

Over the years many grads have written about how great the SAC experience will seem after graduating. For me, I have always enjoyed this school. The people, the academics, the sports; the plusses far outweigh the minusses. The only people that I can thank for this tremendous opportunity are my parents. The friends and teachers are bonuses, but it's my parents who struggled to keep me here; the others just made it more enjoyable.

"Laughter is the key to survival," (MKE) and I had lots of it. Thanks JOKE's (Drugs, Gomer, Heimy (sorry Boom), Houses, Knives, Lodi, Ratty, Rocco/Gino, Shilly, Stupid).

First and most important of all, thank you Mom and Dad for giving me life and the chance to study abroad and everything... Thank you Chris and Liza who have encouraged and inspired my life. Thank you Uncle Richard and Auntie Tammy for taking care of me: I really love being with you, Wingkee and the kids. Thank you for the love and precious memories all of you have given me which keep me alive. Also my greatest gratitude to all the teachers and friends at SAC especially Mr. Foy, Mr. Ray, Mr. Arril, Mr. Walden, Ms. Marsh, SW, AP, MC, VW, DK, CL, IM, AS, HL, MR and many others.

The two nostalgic years apart from home has taught me much. I believe I have learned a great deal through success and more from mistakes; especially in the FAS and SSC. These societies have really given me the opportunities to strengthen my decision making, time managing and communicating skills.

Finally, I would like to wish the best of luck to everyone I know and hope we will meet again in the future.

During the past six years of my life as an Andrean, I have travelled all over the world, made many friends, and have found out a lot about myself. St. Andrew's College gave me the chance to become my own individual. I now feel that I will be able to meet the world on a level that I would not have dared to think about a few years ago. I would like to say thanks to Eric W. and Mike C. who never ceased to wake me in the middle of the night for coffee. Also to Dave B. who left SAC last year for B.C. Thanks to Mr. G who gated me for 8 weeks in a row in grade 9 and to Mr. Whitehead, my tutor who I've felt I could talk to about anything. To Mr. Cowell, see you at a Leaf game sometime. Thanks to Mr. Scoular who introduced me to the magic of theatre. Hope to see you backstage sometime.

Even though the first two years here were a struggle for me I would like to thank my mom and dad who gave me the kick in the butt I needed to realize how much I needed St. Andrew's. Although I don't say this too often, I love you guys a lot.

Four years... seems like just yesterday that I first stepped foot into Flavelle. I had no idea of what this school had in store for me. Since then I've learned so much here. I was taught the meaning of friendship, love and respect and I have become aware of what has real meaning in my life; my family. Without their support and inspiration I don't think that I would ever have made it. Thank you so much mom and dad for believing in me and giving me this opportunity. I know that there were a lot of sacrifices that had to be made and I love you for them. Thanks friends for being there: AK, MJ, CD, SM, RC, JH, AR, JA, AH, BL. I never thought that I would hear myself say this, but I am glad that I came here. It has been a worthwhile experience. Also thanks to all my teachers, for their guidance and encouragement, especially Mr. Foy and Mr. Robo. Thanks Mark and Sue for putting up with me on so many weekends. Most of all, thank you mom and dad, without you, none of this would ever have been possible.

Until this point in time I had no idea what I was going to write for my grad comment. I still don't, but I figure I've B.S.ed my way through seven years at SAC so why stop now. SAC has opened a lot of doors and many learning experiences. SAC has also closed a lot of doors in my face but there is one thing I learned; I'm the best door opener in the school. I would like to thank Mr. Timms for teaching me how to 'challenge', Mr. Swan for being my tutor and friend, and Mr. Somerville for hustling my butt up to chapel. I leave this school with an attitude of confidence and look forward to the joy of having girls in my classes and Saturdays to sleep in. Before closing off I must thank my parents for opening up my eyes to SAC. The discipline I have learned and the friends I have met will stay with me forever.

This, my first and last year at SAC, has been most memorable. I have made many friends, been to places I've never been and done things that I have never done before. For a student who went to public schools all his life, St. Andrew's was quite a culture shock. The teachers were concerned when you did poorly and everyone was friends with each other. Most remembered events included expansion week in Cancun, Mexico, where I expanded my mind with PC, NS, DC, CS, NC, TB, and the great times we had at Johnny Rockets' and Tequila Boom. Thanks are due to Mr. Perrier and Mr. Giel for making it an awesome trip. St. Andrew's was my home away from home a lot of the time and I won't forget rooming with Pierre "Piff" Carvalho. I've matured and learned responsibility in my one year at SAC. My only regrets are that I didn't come to SAC earlier and I owe it all to my parents for caring enough to send me here to get my life straightened out. Thanks Mr. Perrier for always being there when I needed someone to talk to, not only as my housemaster and teacher but as a friend. Hasta la vista!

As I look back at my two years at S.A.C. I must acknowledge that they have probably been two of the most crucial years of my life. It has been a great challenge at S.A.C. academically, spiritually, and physically, and my advice to all is to get involved early and to make the best use of all opportunities offered and to deny yourself nothing in life. S.A.C. has also taught me how to be responsible and independent. Without my friends, I don't know how I would have survived here. To the posse: RC, CD, SM, DR, RF, MJ, CD(BITA), RL, WL, BT, IM, MK, RC respect due (thanks) and thanks to all the people who have helped me to have an enjoyable time at S.A.C. I would also like to thank all the teachers, coaches and housemasters who have encouraged me to do things that I would have never thought of doing (Hacksaw, Robo and Waldo especially) I would most importantly like to thank my parents, who have sacrificed many things in order for me to have an excellent education and I hope I have made them proud.

These past five years have come and gone not all too quickly, and as for the experience...well, it has been an experience at that. In my time here at SAC

I have met many new challenges, learned many lessons and most importantly developed some unique qualities that will help me in my upcoming years as I venture out into the world.

All of this has been made possible by the two most important people in my life, my parents. Thanks for the sacrifices made and the opportunities offered. I love you! Next, I would like to thank those few masters who actually made this place enjoyable at times. Thanks to Mr. Hanson, Mr. Whitehead, Mr. Perrier and Mr. Bedard. I owe you all tremendously. Last but not least, I would like to thank my friends for all the great times that we had and for the many more to come in the future. See ya!

Many people will say how the school has helped them to prepare for university, I'm still not sure if I'm ready but the one thing St. Andrew's has done for me is to introduce me to many interesting and diverse people. Many of the people whom I've met over the past six years have had a tremendous influence on me. Allan, Mike, Lumphead, Paul, Ian, Dave, Mon frere de nome, Buzzy (sorry I had to!), Hootch, Toe, Mark, Malcolm, along with William, Fraser and ROBO! Most of all I want to thank my mother for putting up with me and shelling out $120,000 to send me to SAC. As well I need to thank Sherry for helping me to survive through the past two years (Allan, we are not married!!). If there were any people who I've missed, oh well.

It seems to me that it has been a long time since I came to SAC. This is my first time away from home. I can still remember the feelings of my first night in the dorm: lonely and paranoid. I had no friends here and there was nobody I could talk to. I started worrying how I could spend a whole year here - alone. But now, everything is different. I have got a lot of good friends and the people here are really nice, especially the teachers.

In this year, I had an opportunity to meet different people, expose myself to different cultures and live an entirely different lifestyle. Sitting in the classroom used to bore me to death, but not anymore. Though I have been having a difficult time in adapting to the different education system, I really appreciate this liberal, animating and independent approach. It stimulates, rather than forces me to learn. And I really enjoy going to school now. To conclude, this has been a very fruitful year for me. Thank you very much, SAC!

Thanks to my parents, my brother, and my friends who helped survive this final year. Also to Coach for the guidance, Mr. Walden for the coaching and Mr. Perrier for being a wonderful housemaster and teacher. Also to Mr. Hiltz; I give him my compliments which he certainly deserves. Good job Sir.

SAC has provided me lots of opportunities to meet people, from the strangest (Tony) to the strangest (Albert). One regret I have is that my efficiency is so low (I have too much I want to do yet I have very little time) that I felt as if I am wasting twenty hours every day. I only wish I could be faster. Farewell SAC.

I have been waiting four years for this moment to come. The wait has been somewhat difficult, for the most part, but it has taught me many things. The amount of lessons I learned here, both in and out of the classroom, are too difficult to describe. However, I will indulge in pointing out an important quality that this school has brought me to realize. To show respect. Respect is one of the most important qualities a man can have. Many people in this world misinterpret how it works, but we all should know that respect is a two way street.

Firstly, I would like to thank my parents for caring enough about me to send me here. I will always feel privileged to have been given this opportunity, despite what I might have thought or said throughout the years. Thanks to Mr. Bedard for having such an open mind, and giving me the opportunities. Very special thanks to Mr. Robinson who had brought me through many hard times, who helped me keep my sanity and who will be a friend I will never forget. Thanks to the Hotais for putting up with me and my restlessness. Last but not least, thanks to my friends from the islands (Richard, Dixon, Shiv, Clark, Fat-man, Brian, Thwaites and Monaghan) for keeping me from losing my roots.

My three years at S.A.C. were three of the most enjoyable years of my life. I have learned the importance of friendship, family and hard work. To Ali, Rory, Shane and Zwing thanks for all the good times, I will miss you guys next year. To the rest of you who helped shape my character thanks and the best of luck next year. Thanks also to the Masters who were not only my teachers but my friends. Mr. Foy I can not begin to show my gratitude for your time, your firendship and guidance; I would not be the person I am today without you. Being away from home has shown me the importance of my family. Robb thanks for being supportive and encouraging. Mom and Dad thank you for sacrificing so much and for having faith in me. Your ongoing advice could never have been more right. I love you both. A special thanks to Ali and Rory for showing me honesty and kindness and teaching me the true meaning of friendship. To those Andreans who come behind me remember the most rewarding things in life are achieved through hard work and perseverance.

There are many things which one can say about S.A.C. after attending it for five years. Although not all my earlier years at S.A.C. were enjoyable at the time, I now look back fondly on all the years that I have spent at S.A.C. One of the greatest things about S.A.C. is that one gets out of it what he decides to put into it. The opportunities which the school has presented to me over the years have been limitless. There are certain things which I could not have acquired if it were not for this school. Out of the many character building years, I have been able to develop many close friendships which I will value for the rest of my life. I would like to thank my Mom, Dad, and sister for the love and support throughout the last five years. I would also like to express my gratitude for the opportunity to attend S.A.C. Many thanks go out to those who have made my stay at S.A.C. a memorable one. I now look forward to a new start knowing that S.A.C. has prepared me well to take on new challenges.

I have finished my second and final year at S.A.C. and would be lying if I didn't say that it has been a long hard ride but it's been worth it. When I arrived at

S.A.C. last year I had no idea what to expect but soon found out. Without the group of guys at school this long trip would have been much rougher. We now have the pieces to the puzzle and have begun to put it together but have not yet finished. The help from my brothers and parents allowed me to achieve what I wanted from S.A.C. Mom and Dad, I am grateful for your sacrifices and patience. Navid and Ramin, I have learned from your experiences and advice. Rory and Darren, it's finally over, and you guys helped me through it and now we must move on. Fas, Zwing, Brett; don't change. The friendships are ones which will always make me smile when I think of this place. To all the grads, I hope you achieve what you want in the future. My only bit of advice is never give up; keep completing the puzzle. Someday we'll get together and see what it looks like. Last thing, always, always have fun.

My five year experience at S.A.C. has been a great one. I would like to thank my friends and the masters who made it so. But most of all, I would like to thank my parents for giving me the opportunity to come to S.A.C. Without their constant support, patience and great sacrifices, I don't think that I would have been able to accomplish as much as I have.

I can't say St. Andrew's has been a bowl of cherries, but it has been the most memorable part of my life so far. I can't believe I'm writing my grad comment because I never thought I'd be leaving St. Andrew's. Now that I am I feel I'm going to miss it: I'd like to thank my parents for sacrificing their money to the every inflationary prices of St. Andrew's, I love you. I'd like to thank my friends who made St. Andrew's bearable with the late night Eucher games, study sessions and practical jokes. Most of all I'd just like to thank them for being there. Also, thanks to the teacher who brought out the best in me. Mr. Kinney, my tutor, who helped me with my study habits and kept me in shape. Mr. Perrier, the best housemaster on campus, who made Memorial house the best. Thanks.

There are less than a hundred days before I graduate from St. Andrew's College. My two years in S.A.C. have changed my character, my life, and developed me as a mature gentleman! It has been a terrific experience that I will never forget. (Of course I include the initiation!) I feel happy and proud of being a member in the First Volleyball. Mr. Gaertner, my volleyball coach, did an outstanding job in coaching the volleyball team; it is becoming the strongest and the most powerful team in Ontario. Thanks to Mr. Foy, my housemaster, who has done a perfect job as a housemaster and ran the house as warm as a home! Finally, I would like to thank my parents for giving me the opportunity to study at St. Andrew's. I hope that the friendships I made in S.A.C. will stay with me forever! May God be with you guys!

The most memorable moment would be in Memorial House. When I first came to Memorial, I found that it was the 'Land of the Free', but with a touch of discipline that joined and held the house in its fine shape. I got a very good roommate, Jimmy Chan, who brought me joy and fun. He expanded my living society. Unfortunately he left S.A.C. and continued his study in Hong Kong. When I look back at S.A.C. it's not the tests or the academic assemblies that I remember, but the embarrassing moments, the laughs, the all-night term projects that crept up on me and the torture of getting up for chapel. Last but not the least, I would like to thank my parents for the opportunities I have gained from my two years at S.A.C. To all the friends I've made, I'll try to keep in touch.

As time continues to hurtle through the vast infinitude of the universe, we are hustled on our way to university education. The time has come. The day is near. My life at SAC is soon to end. Looking back, I can see two great years of pride and joy, despite the occasional frustrations. In those hundreds of days, I have learned to become self-dependent and self-confident. SAC has transformed me from a doubting boy to a decisive young man. Now I realize that nothing is impossible. Thanks to all teachers and pals at school who have guided me through my course; I shall never forget you. To my buddies all over the world: thanks for your eternal support and to the most understanding C.A., thanks for giving me the power to strive. Mom and Dad, thanks for everything; I simply cannot express my gratitude in words.

Lord Jesus, thank you for giving me the opportunity to be what I am. The memories shall last forever. "What is past is prologue." - William Shakespeare

My stay at St. Andrew's College has finally come to an end. It's been four years and now I need to move on to another stage of my life. SAC has taught me many valuable lessons: friendship, respect for others and discipline. I cherish many of the moments and memories of my stay at this school. Indeed, I will remember this institution for a lifetime. Thanks to all the teachers who helped me along the way and to my parents for giving me the encouragement, support and opportunity. Thank you!

It was all too quick and sudden as I realized that I was ending my high school days. St. Andrew's College had been the most practical school of my life and

I really do linger over my thoughts about St. Andrew's.

I will not try to describe what life is like at SAC, as only an Andean can feel what it is like to be one. Thanks to all the teachers who gave me their support and advice. Thanks especially to Mr. Smith who has been patient towards someone who can't keep his eyes open during class. Thanks to Mr. Perrier who introduced me to math contests and hyperbolas and to Mr. Hiltz who taught me how to handle problems both inside and outside Physics, and thanks to Mr. Foy and Mr. Inglis for their advice and support through my two years at SAC.

Of course, the greatest thanks of all go to my parents who stood up for me through my hardest times, encouraged me and gave me the best advice. Finally to my friends at SAC, you guys know who you are, thanks for the two great years.

At this point, I do not know how much St. Andrew's

College has done to me. It did not only deliver me knowledge but it has taught me how to 'Quit ye like men, be strong'. I thank all the masters who helped me out through the years. I especially thank Mr. Foy, my housemaster who gave me full support in residence and Mr. Treasure who gave me the one and only chance to Pipe for the Chinese Canadian Annual Ball. I am sure that I will never forget my wonderful days at St. Andrew's; I will always be an Andean.

Three years in St. Andrew's have given me an unforgettable experience. Most importantly I learned how to survive in a most competitive and difficult environment. My thanks to all my friends (S.F., J.T., F.L., V.W., J.C., A.B., W.M., V.L., and to all the rest of my friends that I've forgotten to mention, you know who you are.) A special thanks to my parents who have given me the opportunity to come to St. Andrew's, my brother and sister who always support me, also my uncle and aunt. Finally, I have one suggestion to the school: Cancel the Saturday classes! Amen.

Lester Liang (1989-92)

For the many opportunities that the school has provided, I am grateful. St. Andrew's has given me many memories that undoubtedly I will cherish in the years to come. Certainly, friendships and activities outside the classroom have been a big part of the enriching experience here and boarding life is one aspect of my education here that will not soon be forgotten. My thanks and commendations to the caring and concerned staff. Special thanks to my housemaster for his support and guidance. Farewell St. Andrew's.

Blue to red; what a difference. My first and last year at St. Andrew's will never fade from my mind. I've learned more here than I have anywhere else, so a simple thanks just wouldn't be enough. A special thanks should go to Mr. Perrier for being the best housemaster around, and to all my teachers for putting up with me. (Rock on Robo!) Cheers to Em and all my buddies here and everywhere, they already know who they are. And most of all I'd like to thank Mom, Dad, Jamie, Viv and Andrew. I don't know where I'd be without them.

My years at S.A.C. seem like a race down a flight of stairs with the lights out. And now, as my time here ends and university looms near by, I've hit the ground with a jolt. Looking back though, S.A.C. has been more than a preparatory school for university. My teachers have given me the self-confidence and personal appreciation that I earnestly needed. My friends- some gone, some remaining- have helped me along the way with their quiet understanding. I feel that these influenced will help me through whatever life may present. And finally, with hindsight's help, my stay here looks less like a blind race down the stairs and more like the strides to carry me through the times to come.

I'm not really sure what to say now that it's over. I'd be lying if I were to say that I haven't been looking forward to my last day at the school but, I think that St. Andrew's has changed me considerably and in a positive way, I thank the school for that. First of all, I want to thank Toe for being crazy, Rich for waking me up for breakfast everyday, Paul for losing to me in squash, Ashley for taking me to N.F. when there was too much fog, Jeff for answering the phone, Nick for being my roommate, and Ali for keeping me company on those long drives to the big city, and to anybody else that I've forgotten thanks and stay in touch. I also want to thank my housemaster Mr. Perrier for being my teacher and for being so understanding and thoughtful. A. Z. Burger shaving my head, good times with Ali and Darren, being ugly with Tarek. There is no need for tacky initials, my friends know who they are. I love you guys.

Thanks must go to my parents without whose love, support, and money made it all possible. To the teachers who have become friends, thanks for putting up with me. There is no formula to life, no magic words of wisdom, just put a smile on your face and take it easy. At SAC we played a few sports together, wrote a few tests, but between it all, we got to know one another. Here I got to know my brother. Shane, I love you. To me it is all this, all the smiles, friends, and good times that made St. Andrews singular.

People say that it takes time away from a place to realize what it means to you. After spending five years here I almost followed through with the worst decision of my life, to not come back. Well I lasted all of three weeks (thanks Matt). During those gruelling three weeks I realized what makes this place special and how much it has become a part of me. It's not the sparkling new pool or squash courts, it's not even the wonderful computer network I'm writing this on. It's the people. It's the teachers who are willing to share so much, it's Sophia and Ursula from the kitchen, it's Bill, Manny and Art the janitors and most importantly, it's the friends that you make and keep. That is what this school is about. To my friends- M.C., A.Z., S.B., N.C.x2, T.R., A.K., thank-you for being who you are. To Mr. Bedard thanks for your kindness. Thanks to the Chisholms for being there, little things mean a lot. Mom and Dad it has been interesting, thank-you.

Two years was sufficient. I may not have achieved all my aspirations as far as academics go, but I've matured considerably and earned my self respect. My parents have given me the opportunity few can obtain; the chance to be part of a different culture and to give me a taste of independence. Thank you mom and dad, I love you.

The memories and experiences I've gathered will never leave me and I owe it all to my friends. Respect due to the rude boy crew: Richie B, K2, Lotha, Fats and Skeletor; and also to AR, DR, RL, BT, IM, and MK. Special thanks to Mr. Foy, my cousin Rajiv and Mr. Chawla for pulling my socks up. When I was to summarize my tenure at SAC I wondered what things I could leave on paper that would possibly give my four years due justice. Do I thank all the great friends and teachers who moulded my young impressionable mind to the intellectual powerhouse I am today? However, thanks to the two people who made my coming here possible... Nigel and David... my parents, for investing their hard earned money and time in me.

When I am old and become nostalgic about the times I had at S.A.C. my fondest memories will be of the friends I made in the classroom and on the playing fields, rinks and road trips.

Again thanks to all those who made these the wildest times, and I hope we keep in touch and meet again when we've all matured (yea, right) and we'll do it all over again.

I'm writing my final words I'll be remembered by, at 4:30 in the morning, four hours before I depart for Nepal. However it hasn't been until the past twenty-four hours that I have truly come to realize what St. Andrew's is all about: friends and opportunities. Friends have helped me finish projects, written me letters, phoned to wish me good luck and have stood by me in the past few days, just like they have throughout the past four years. Included in my friends are many of my teachers. Not only have they provided me with an excellent education, but they have also extended a caring attitude. I'd like to thank all my friends (esp. RM, RO, RL, DW, BL) for sharing the good times and helping me through the bad ones. Finally, but most importantly, I'd like to thank my parents. Mom and Dad for giving me the invaluable opportunity of attending St. Andrew's. You have been tremendously supportive in all my endeavours. With new self-confidence I look forward to a bright future.

When I first came to St. Andrew's for an interview I met Dr. Meagher and he gave me his famous line, "You get out what you put in", after seven years I know this is true. St. Andrew's has given me a lot but when I leave I'll be leaving behind seven years of blood, sweat and tears. Not that that is bad; learning to deal with pain has given me the confidence needed to compete and the competitiveness to win. To those who had faith in me, thank you, and to those who didn't, I'll prove you wrong even if it's the last thing I do. Thank you Dr. Meagher for getting me in; Mr. Kitchen (PGK) for getting me involved in cross country skiing; To Mom and Dad, Abraham had it easier but it was worth it. To my friends, stay in touch and I'll see you at the top- We're gonna win!

First and foremost I would like to thank my parents for making the sacrifices for my education, for having sent me to S.A.C. back in grade eight. Thanks to Mr. Swan for all he's done for me, the advice, his humour, those friendly smiles in the halls, and his coaching.

Also thanks to all the guys from last year, (Sven, Ali, Shelf, Greek, ?Glaze?, etc.) for their influence on my final year and for their inspiration.

Last, but not least, I would like to thank all my friends (but not for my nicknames!), for the motivation to make me fast track. Only at a school like this are you able to make such good friends and have such good times. Good luck next year. "

After 7 years of St. Andrew's, I find it hard to believe I am leaving. Starting from Mac house, I've been through 4 different houses, and 10 different roommates. When I first came here, I felt that 7 years would be extremely long, but when I think about all the memories, it feels like yesterday. First, I must thank my parents for sacrificing to send me here for all these years. Thanks a lot for sending me here. Next I must thank all the teachers who were there when I needed help, especially Mr. Kimmerer, who has been my tutor for all these years. Mr. Perrier, who allowed me to take my car whenever I needed it. Mrs. Hiltz, who started my English for me. I must also thank all my friends, who I've learned many things from. Good luck next year to all. By coming to S.A.C. for all these years, I've grown physically and mentally. In the future, I hope I can use all the experience I've learned here. Finally, I must say that spending 7 years at S.A.C. has changed my life. It has taught me the importance of friends and life, which I'll never forget. Thanks S.A.C.

five years here I'm actually gone. By the time anyone reads this, I'll be cruising the vertical surf at Whistler or loading up in some strange University. To all the Jokes, wherever you are (and it better be B.C.) I offer my thanks, my respect, and the blade of my knife. You guys are the best. Without you (Drugs, House, Lodi, Stuage, Doggie, Boom-Boom, Rocco, Chip, Gomer) I probably would have REALLY lost it. And the world's not ready for that. Mom and Dad, You taught me to read, to write, to live and to care. Thanks for letting me wreck your cars, your house, and those nice, peaceful hours between two and seven in the morning. To fully appreciate St. Andrew's College one must be willing to make sacrifices. St. Andrew's teaches its students more than just Math and English. It also builds confidence and character; attributes which form the basis of the men we will soon be. As well, it provides an atmosphere conducive to forming deep friendships which we will carry with us when we leave. I now feel prepared for whatever may lie ahead, and that because of my association with SAC, I will be a better person for it. For allowing me the opportunity of attending St. Andrew's, I must thank my parents. Your gracious sacrifice can't be acknowledged with words. I would also like to thank my tutor Mr. Robinson and all of my teachers for the commitment they have made to my future. As well, I especially thank Mr. Bedard. Thanks also to Cy, Kev, Alex, Ty, Chris, Tom, Gorn, Lupester, Geef, and everyone else for putting up with my ectomorphism.

Seven years. When you stay in any one place for an extended period of time, it can only become a part of you. If it doesn't then the time that one has spent has been wasted. My life at S.A.C. is a part of me that I can never forget. It is the foundation of the person I am, and the person I will become. To Mr. Whitehead, without you I wouldn't have been able to make this long journey. To the Boys (and Girls), Rocco, Loadie, Shill, Cherry, Kev, Palmer, Tx and Nikki- you're simply the best. Thanks.

space, but I still can't find the appropriate words to express my gratitude. I am extremely thankful for my memorable experiences at SAC. I wouldn't have succeeded however, without the assistance of a few very important people. I'd like to thank all my teachers, especially my tutor Mr. Whitehead, in addition to Mr. Clements, I truly appreciate all the help you've given me. I'd also like to thank "the guys": JM, RM, RL, AL and MB. I'll never forget all the laughs and great times we've had. Most of all, I want to thank and give my love to my parents. Without your support none of this would have been possible. I'm eternally indebted to you both and will never forget the sacrifices you've made for me. All in all, it is with great pride that I graduate from St. Andrew's College.

Well Marcus, I made it from Room 111! St. Andrew's has been six long years, but it's time to move on. Various experiences both in and out of the classroom will never be forgotten, and neither will my friends along the way. Thanks to Christian (for more than the frequent flier miles beyond the blue Ford tractor), Ryan (masterdebator), Jamie (Ref), CD player and many more. I must also take this opportunity to say thank you to all the teachers and coaches who took the time to do their best, whether I appreciated it or not. Thank you Mr. Bedard.

Most of all, thanks to Mom and Todd, whose sacrifice can't be measured in dollars alone, but in time, patience and understanding. To the one person who most wanted to be at my graduation, I know you're there.

I wish to be a flagstaff, looking over the most dynamic, the most advanced and the most magnificent campus, flying the radiating banner. No matter how chill the wind blows, no matter how merciless the rain shoots at me, I shall be standing fast and upright at St. Andrew's. I found myself facing deliberations in dealing with racial affairs, maintaining school order and being a "role model". Though I failed in most of my missions, I perceived different cultures, acquired the art of practical administration and made many bizarre but decent friends. Finally I must admit that I treasure the experiences and the enlightenment from my mentors during those four long years of exile from home.

Four years at S.A.C. seems like a long time, but it's not and I regret that it is now over. You learn so much from this place. The teachers have been a great help to me and I am forever grateful. Thanks to my coaches for the help and confidence that you have given me. I must begin by stressing how much St. Andrew's has developed my development. Have you ever heard of the phrase "stunted growth?". Aside from the few hassles I experienced as a member of the Andrean community I would like to stress my sudden interest in politics. I find it can help one greatly in getting into situations that are, how do you say, better avoided. All in all I would like to say that I have made some really good friends and I thank them for their support. AK, IE, MJ, DP, RF, CD, JH, JPC, RM, BT, AVA. Father, I didn't forget who I am, those around me reminded me every day. "You singers are spineless as you sing your senseless songs to the mindless. Your general subject love is minimal. After six long years, I still find myself, at times, to be just as confused now as I was when I was forced onto the campus years ago. Yet even still, I know the time was well spent. I must thank my parents, my grandparents, Mr. Whitehead and various other teachers for virtually saving my life and guaranteeing me a chance to have a respectable future.

Thanks also must go to my many friends, both at SAC and at various other institutions in the country. You guys were the ones who molded me into what I am today. I am glad that I have known you all, it has been a great experience and there shall be many more. To EDE, thanks for showing me the real love, devotion and trust that I have been looking for all my life. There were tough times, but you helped me through and I love you for it.

Seven years at SAC! This may seem like a long time but it flew by pretty quickly. SAC has greatly affected me and I hope it will affect my future as well. Thank you, Mom and Dad for making it possible. I would also like to thank Mr. Somerville and Mr. Ray for getting me through the academic side. Thanks as well to all of the coaches that I have had over the years, especially Mr. Clements and Mr. Swan. Four years have passed since I first passed the gates and began my SAC career. I call this a career because

St. Andrew's isn't just an academic institution, it pushes each individual to become a well rounded person. Studies, sports and extra activities fill each Andrian's day. The opportunity to succeed is there, one just needs the drive to push oneself to the top. My academic life at SAC wasn't the success I had wished it to be. I didn't have the initiative to excel and my performance was hurt.

I would like to thank my parents most of all for allowing me to attend SAC. I know that they are the two most important people in my life. Thanks Budjie for being there for my first years. I would also like to thank AR, RF, AK, BL, AH, ES, JM and all the others for making my life at SAC fun and interesting, and all my teachers for their patience. The fairy tale is over. Now life begins...

What? It's over already? I was just starting to enjoy it around here. Well, guess I'll have to move. My time at S.A.C. has been a period of transition.

I came here two years ago - timid, vulnerable, and uncertain. I experienced ups and downs during my stay and learned to deal with them myself. Looking back, I can see that I have come a long way from what I used to be. Now that I am about to depart, there is a distinct feeling of independence and maturity. It would be truthful to say that the teachers at S.A.C. are the ones who have made me work harder than ever before. They are very demanding but that is all part of school. A jungle lies ahead of me and although I am scared, it is certain that the training I have endured here will see me through. I would like to thank Mr. Foy for being a great housemaster and also for scooping us Gr. 13's out of bed for chapel. Thanks to Mr. Walden and Mr. Smith for their excellent swim coaching. Thanks to Mom and Dad for posting me to these barracks.

After a quick re-cap of my years at SAC, I can say that I remember only good times and better times.

Where else can a guy become friends with these characters: Lodi, Doggie, Rocco, Boom, Chip, House, Knives, Gomer and Drugs. They were great years for me, coming in with not a thought in my head about my future, and leaving with a very decisive plan about my life. I have made many great friends and I would like to thank them as well as the teachers who helped me immeasurably. I especially want to thank my parents who have given me this golden opportunity and my whole family: I love you all.

However, the greatest amount of credit must go to my parents. Thanks for your help and the opportunities you gave me. Thanks to my friends who shared the great moments (arcades, won matches, movies, week-ends, good reports, missing chapel), and sometimes not-so-great moments (bombed maths tests, lost matches, caught missing chapel) with me.

Also my deepest gratitude to all my teachers and coaches. Especially Mr. Hanson for taking care of me during my initial years at SAC, Mr. Kinney for his fun classes, Mr. Ray for helping me discover my creativity, and Mr. Rush for everything.

Last "thanks" goes to my family, who made my stay at SAC possible. I thank them for driving me up and down the 404 while I drove them crazy with my childish complaints. I also want to thank them for encouraging me and teaching me things which could not be learned at any educational institution.

When I first got dropped off in front of Dunlap Hall it looked as if my stay at a private school would be shortlived. Fortunately, after a tough first year, I realized what St. Andrew's was all about. SAC taught me that you get out what you put in, and unless you get involved, 6 school days a week is useless. Of course, my transition into an Andrean is because of a great staff (thanks Robo, the Clements etc.) and some great friends (I'm forever indebted to the 'Soup Gang' and Sandletyre). Thanks mom and dad for giving me the opportunity of a lifetime. Admittedly, you were right. I will always be proud to be an Andrean.

My time at St. Andrew's was brief as I was on ex-

I would like to thank the following people for their help and support while I was in Canada : thanks Mr. Foy, Mr. Swan, and Mr. Bedard for making this exchange possible. To the guys at SAC, Darren and Rory, and the other grade 13's who introduced me to Canadian Beverages that made me feel a little bit seedy the next day for some unseen reason.

A special thanks must go to my family (Joc, Bri, and Milo) for supporting me financially and I love you all. The experiences at SAC will always be remembered. In the future I am hoping to return to SAC to play in an Old Boys' rugby match.

After surviving 6 years of St. Andrew's, I feel ready to breeze through University. Being involved is the key factor in determining how much you will get out of SAC. It is quite simple: the more you put in (effort, not money!), the more you get out.

I would like to dedicate this final paragraph to all the people that have helped me get through these past 6 years. First I must thank my parents for supporting me and giving me the freedom to do all that I have done. Thanks also go to all the teachers that have taught me. Special thanks go to Mr. Treasure for supporting me in all my endeavours, Mr. Hiltz for your encouragement, and Mr. Smith for putting up with my cars. Two years in SAC flies by like a rocket. I could still recall the first day of school in SAC, lost, lonesome, and the first time without my parents' accompaniment. I have never anticipated making so many friends after a few days of school. This whole school

In leaving, I want to thank Mr. Hiltz for the incredible courage given, Mr. Smith for the guidance to the brighter path, and, most important of all, my dearest Dad, Mom and Sam who are giving me continuous support, confidence and love. Thank you for everything. After the numerous thanks, I want to apologise to Mr. Walden for not giving my best shot on English and also to Mr. Jones, Mr. Robo and my teammates for missing the most decisive game of the soccer tournament which made me feel very guilty afterwards. My five years here at S.A.C. could be summed up in the following prayer:

Sometimes we put far more enthusiasm and thought and effort into our pleasure and our games and our amusement than we do into our work. Sometimes we keep our best behaviour for strangers and our worst behaviour for our homes; and often we treat our nearest and dearest with a discourtesy and disregard we would never show to strangers. Sometimes we get irritated and annoyed and angry about things which in our calmer moments we know do not matter. Sometimes we lose our temper in an argument about trifles. Sometimes we allow very little things to cause a quarrel with a friend.

Thanks to JIMMY CHAN (Whom I've said goodbye twice before I graduate from this place.), K.L., R.L., A.P., C.Y., D.S., my family and the staff of S.A.C. who helped me through a very important stage of my life and helped shape me to be the person whom I've become. Though I've been the person in the prayer, but S.A.C. helped me to discover and change that.

U15 Football

Early in the season Mr. West and I came to the inescapable conclusion that working with this year's edition of the Under 15 Football team was a distinct pleasure and not a chore. We were blessed with a team which possessed talent and speed, but much more important, a good attitude. However this did not completely make-up for one major deficiency, a lack of size. When one plays the bottom half of the Under 16 teams at UCC and Appleby with a team consisting of players from Grade 7, 8 and 9, that extra year can make a lot of difference. Despite this we had a very successful season. We didn't win any games but a motley group of individuals at the start of the season developed into a cohesive unit by season's end, and scored some touchdowns. People who had never played football beyond the occasional game of touch acquired new skills such as blocking and tackling. Those who originally thought that they could step on the field and play like the Argos developed a new awareness of the complexity of the game. There are those who bemoan the lack of a "winning tradition" at this level, but we prepared a lot of players for the next level of competition and had a lot of fun in the process. So call us a farm team, but a classy one at that.

Our MVP was "Charlie-Fred" Perowne, who ran the roll-out better than Joe Montana did at the same age. In the Appleby game he filled the air with footballs. The MIP was Justin Hui, a devastating tackler, who did a great job on the corner.

The story of this year's U16 Football team goes much further than their impressive record of 6 wins and 1 loss. After dropping the initial game of the season in a heartbreaking loss to an inferior squad from Ridley, this team picked itself off the ground and preceded to dominate the league in the remaining six games. So thorough was their superiority over the rest of their ISAA competition that they failed to allow even one more point for the rest of the season. In fact, the consecutive quarter shutout streak of 22 was broken only by a disqualification victory in the final game of the season. During this stretch of 6 games the U16 squad out-scored their opposition 132-0. The addition of an U15 team last year showed almost immediate results as several of our key positions were filled by experienced second year players such as Tom Brannon, Ed Ham and Mark Wilson. A very potent offense was led by quarterback Charlie Perowne and the excellent running game of Brent Spence and Jay Greer. Strong line play up the middle by Mike Morgan, Rob Kelly and Ryan Lawlor allowed us to run practically at will. Twelve solid starters and several key back-ups explain how a defensive team can allow only 12 points in an entire season. The defense was led by a strong linebacking duo of MVP Seb Herce, and MIP Kelly O'Shea. Sean Christie and Chee Ly were among the best of a team of solid tacklers in the defensive secondary, while Ryan Penty anchored a strong defensive line. Congratulations to the entire team on this outstanding season. With a solid core of returning veterans and experienced U15 players our football future for '92 at S.A.C. looks very promising.

Second football has been slowly, steadily improving both in numbers and calibre. This season was a little shorter with the withdrawing of TCS, but the intensity and keenness of practise were as great as ever.

The defense led by Parent, Smeenk, Loveless, Fung and Gillam kept the score respectable giving up an average of 16.7 points a game. The offense had trouble getting going as they averaged 7.5 points a game and missed on several golden opportunities. Our limited success occurred when the running backs Ginou, Smith and O'Neil were able to follow the blocks of Herde, Lau, Stinson and Hampshire. Our MVP and top point man (12) was Cory Loveless and our MIP was Andrew Beach.

This year coach Ackerman, along with his assistant, Jack Mulchinock, faced a new challenge. With only a few players returning from last year's team, this year's team of rookies had to be moulded to succeed. Like always, football camp allowed the coaches to establish a feeling about the team and its over-all ability. This year's team had the ability to win. Unfortunately the problem was not due to the lack of enthusiasm or motivation of the players but rather due to the physical aspect: there were numerous injuries. The injuries caused the team many problems but it also enabled many new stars to rise in the games. James Brown was this year's MIP. The play of the year that will never be forgotten was the play against Ridley with Darren Katic running back his interception for a 108 yard touchdown. The team would like to thank the coaches for all their time, patience and hard work. Memories of this year will allow us to look back fondly. To next year's team, good luck and have fun.

Under 13 Soccer was one of the busiest teams in the school during the first term. We played sixteen games, winning or tying ten of them. We had the good fortune to play in a three-day national tournament of independent schools at Appleby College and to be billeted in families associated with their school. We had two full-time coaches this year -- my thanks to Mr. Cowell for adding his expertise and enthusiasm to all that we had going for us.

The season started out with two strong wins against Ridley and St. George's. We played Upper Canada twice and both times they bested us by three goals. The next game against Crescent we tied 4-4. Probably our strongest game all season was the one we played at St. John's Kilmarnock,

That led up to the tournament and we felt like we were on a roll. At the end of the first day we had won only one of three games. The second day we won two of three. In our final game on day three we played well but we couldn't overcome St. Michael's who had been our guests at SAC. Congratulations to St. George's School of Vancouver for defending their championship successfully.

Commendations to Matthew Ward who became a serviceable and plucky defender. Most spirited and hardworking was their captain, Keith Dadson. Thanks also to our official "team mum", Mrs. Dadson, who faithfully followed us to wherever we played, and always brought oranges!

This season's Under 14 forward line was rich in individual skills and exhibited tremendous scoring power -- they netted 39 goals in 9 games. The most prolific scorers were Jesse Kerr (11) and Chris Abraham (10), followed by Ryan Lymburner and Simon Williams.

Two new half-backs joined the squad; Inaki Istilart showed promise on the left while Alex Churchill quickly developed into a busy attacking right half and earned the MIP nomination. Nobody worked harder among the defenders than the team captain and MVP, Chris Heining.

Full backs Wallace Yuen and Mark Newton worked hard, making considerable improvement in skills and in tactical play. Goalkeeper Ed Mercer often came up with courageous saves.

The team's success also reflects the efforts of the other squad members. I thank them all for their enthusiasm and their sportsmanship.

Kingston is coming down the soccer field, breaking tackles, producing a breakaway. He shoots and bounces the ball off of the goal post. This year's U16 soccer team had many high points as well as many disappointments. The I.S.A.A. tournament for U16 soccer was held at S.A.C. However, this did not prove to be an advantage, as we finished fourth. The shining points of the year including of Michael Kingston sparkling game clinching goals, as well as a defensive line that was able to hold their ground against many stronger offensive lines. Many thanks goes to the team but most of the credit must go to our coach, Mr. Clements.

With just three losses in eleven games at the U15 age level and a third place finish at the end of year tournament, the season could be called, almost, a great success.

We suffered from that unknown disease called "Lackofscoring", due mainly because most of our talented players were, relatively, very small. I am sure that when these players grow in size and strength they will contribute greatly to our senior teams.

My thanks to all the players for their efforts and particularly our captain, Darren McNair, for his leadership.

This year's second soccer team was a hard working group who were always able and ready to do their best. We went through the season with six wins, two ties and a loss. We came in second place in our tournament after losing in the finals in overtime.

Standouts included Sean 'Scruff' Connelly, Ken 'Mon' Magee, Alex 'Amadeus' Von Arb, Jaimie 'Sniper' De La Macorra, Carl 'Speedy' Milroy, The Caribbean Crew, and our most carded player, Rob Clarke, who also slide tackled a female opponent. I'd like to congratulate Jaimie De La Macorra, our MVP and Sean Connelly our MIP.

With strong goaltending and defence, a solid midfield and skillful strikers, this year's first team looked prepared to win. At the early bird tournament we came second to the boys of T.C.S. The regular season began shortly after and the scent of leather was getting stronger after every game. Halfway through the season SAC hosted sixteen teams from Canada and the Cayman Islands in an invitational soccer tournament. We lost to the defending champs and eventual winners, the Cayman Islands, in the semi-finals, but still came in a respectable third. The second half of our season proved to be the toughest when we lost a couple of close games. Captains Nick Collingwood and Roman Melnyk tried to keep the intensity level high and get the team prepared to play in the playoffs. Our quest for leather came to a quick and disappointing end when we lost to T.C.S. in the playoffs thereby ending our season.

Players such as our MVP, Roman Melnyk and our MIPs Mark Etherington and Kevin Mertens along with Striker, Spaz, Shil, Chiz, Wally, Ro, Peta, Nerd, Shredder and Young Reid all helped our team's performance improve. On behalf of the team I would like to thank Mr. Jones, El Robo, Eddie and Paul for their help and leadership throughout the entire season. I hope next year's season will be more rewarding and good luck to all returning players.

Nick Collingwood

With eight players from which to select a team, it was clear that a close-knit group could be established for the season. So it turned out. Moreover, our first appearance, in the Invitational Tournament, provided us with a comfortable win and gave us a view of the opposition. We knew we had the potential for a good season.

We worked on the basic volleyball skills, on serving and on offensive and defensive play at the U14 level, and all the player's skills improved. Special mention should be made of Steve Lewis's eleven consecutive service points in the Homecoming match against TCS.

It was UCC we were watching most closely in the ISAA tournament. As it turned out, we beat UCC 2nd team quite easily, and the 1st team in the other division did not qualify for the final. The showdown was SAC vs. Crescent. The first game went our way easily. In the second, Crescent pulled back and took it. The third and final game was a cliff-hanger, but at 14-14 we won service back and took the two points needed to retain the ISAA trophy.

Congratulations to Billy Pugliese (Capt. and MVP), Kevin Aarts (Asst. Capt.), Andrew Hodges (MIP), John Lee, Steve Lewis, Francis Liuson and Charles Pang on a very good season a well-deserved trophy.

This year's team played very well during the season, winning 5 out of their 8 matches with ISAA schools. The team was blessed with several intuitively knowledgeable and consistent players. Edward Lee, Kam Chan, and Derek Bulas (MVP) set a fine example for their teammates in this regard. Erik Hedges and Julian Hall, who suffered through the season with a knee injury, displayed their patented mixture of piquant serves and sent many opponents to the sidelines for water. Julian Battiston refined his spiking throughout the year and I'm happy to report that he will be eligible for play next year at this level.

Carl Zank focused his energies long enough to contribute significantly to the team. His efforts paid-off as he is the winner of this year's MIP award. Somers Kempe, also plagued with a knee injury, Tommy Kong, Jameel Bandali, and Louie DiGianni, provided excellent support during practice and were able to build skills throughout the season. My special thanks go out to you for your effort and dedication.

The team's performance at the ISAA tournament was less than sparkling, but such things give a coach something to ponder in the off-season. Again, many thanks to the whole team for your efforts and talents. This was a team of fine Andreans.

This year we had a very talented team. Our season started with two very lopsided victories winning both games in straight sets. We then lost a very close game to UCC at their homecoming 3 sets to 2. The team then went into a slump and lost the next two games before getting back on track and finishing the season by once again winning the last game in straight sets. In the tournament we were successful in winning the round-robin only to lose at the second round of the tournament in the last set to a very strong team from Albert College. The team put on a fine display of skill and showed great spirit and character in their loss. My thanks to all the players on this year's team especially the captain Ryan McNally. Congratulations to Jeff Holliday, the MIP, and Tim Stinson, the MVP. - Mr. R. Giel

The upcoming season looked to be a very prosperous one. The majority of our team were returnees and with the addition of a few new members, we were raring to go. We had our best games when we defeated TCS 3-0 at Homecoming, and UCC 3-2 at the UCC Association Day. Everything seemed to fall in place; the team had a strong offence and defence and this proved to be the catalyst in our undefeated regular season, an 8-0 record. However, we were greatly disappointed when we were defeated in an exciting match in the semi-finals 3-2. Not only did we play in the ISAA, but we participated in regional exhibition games and tournaments, gaining more experience with a record of 8-2.

Everyone on the team provided an integral part in our successful season, especially the team's MVP Carlos Del Pino, the MIP Marc Belliveau and the team captain, David Kim. The team would like to thank our coach Mr. Gaertner for a great season and I would like to thank all of the players on the team, including our manager, who participated and made this season a memorable one. The cross-country team had fewer participants this year than usual. As a result, the season will be remembered in terms of individual performances rather than team accomplishments. In particular, Ian and David Michael took first places in the Senior and Junior races, respectively, of the ISAA Cross-Country Championships, quite possibly the first time that two brothers have accomplished this remarkable feat. David went on to give creditable performances at DYSSA and OFSSA. (A third brother Andy, contributed to the Under-14 contingent.)

During the absence of Mr. Hemmings, I agreed to take over supervision of the fencing teams. While I used to be an accomplished fencer, it has been many years since I was last involved with the sport. For this reason it seemed appropriate to hire a professional fencing coach from Toronto, who could teach lessons once a week and from whom I could refresh my memory about the intricate moves, especially on defense.

Thus it was that we hired Mr. Matthew Chan, a fencer of national renown, who attended St. Andrew's each Tuesday. He gave lessons to a large beginner's group, advanced lessons to our experienced fencers and private lessons to those students who displayed special promise. On the remaining days, I supervised the experienced fencers in their practice sessions and continued the training of the beginners myself.

Twenty-seven students took part in the fencing program this year. Of these, fifteen were beginners, which augurs well for next year. I would like to thank the advanced fencers most especially for their welcome help and cooperation in making the year a successful one by keeping fencing on track until Mr. Hemmings' return.

This has been a challenging and eventful year for all of us. As Mr. Hemmings went to England on an exchange program, we were blessed to have Mr. Myrans, who was the epee captain in his high school years, take care of us.

We entered three all-Ontario tournaments in Brampton, Goderich and in Waterloo. Our first team members, Kevin Chang, Ian Lee and Allen Chi captured 3rd place in the first tournament in a field of sixteen teams, and took 2nd place in the second tournament out of twelve teams.

Our second team, which consists of Andrew Sundjaja, Francis Leong, Ringo Yeung, Ephraim Lam, Wayne Lai, Warren Lam, Tom Fu, Andrew Leung and Johnny Tsang, secured 7th, 8th and 13th places in the first tournament and 4th, 5th and 9th places in the second tournament. Many thanks to Mr. Myrans and Mr. Inglis.

By any yardstick the season was a successful one. The team played at virtually two levels: at U14 and U16B. In each case they did extremely well, losing just five out of twenty-three games. The season finished on a tremendous note when we reached the final of the ISAA tournament but lost sadly, 4-2, to Nichols in a close fought game.

Our thanks to the team for their good spirit and effort throughout the season and our best wishes to those going on next year to play at the U16 level. To those remaining with the team we look forward to their leadership in the upcoming season.

The Under 16 hockey team enjoyed a successful year under the expert coaching of Mr. Grenier. The team finished the year playing .500 hockey. In the first tournament of the year the team made it to the final, only to be beaten by our nemesis St. Mike's. Jeff Lewis and Glen McLellan gave the U16 team solid goaltending. It turned out that Jeff Lewis took the MVP for the second year in a row.

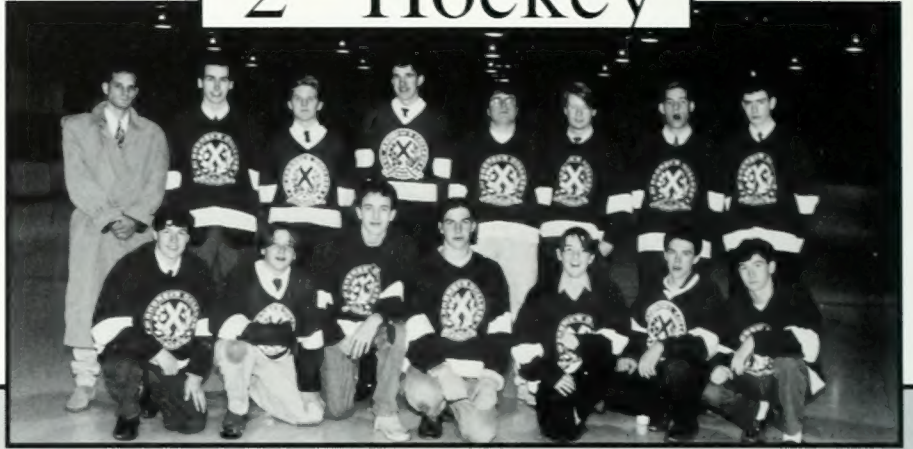

The MIP goes to the speedy Mark Hamilton who by the end of the year managed to score a few goals due to his great speed. A special thanks goes to Mike Ralph who came down to the team from Firsts to help our team a great deal. His highlight of the year was breaking the glass at the Aurora community centre with a slapshot.

Unfortunately, we didn't advance that far into the ISAA tournament, but over the year we ran about the middle of the pack. Another special thanks goes to Gabriel Chung who managed the team for the year. A unanimous decision goes in favour of Ryan Lawlor as the SPGD player of the year (slowest player getting dressed).

The Tier II hockey team had a slow start competing against a number of first teams from schools that decided against entering in First hockey, but by our last three games our team exploded winning them handily. Special mention to K. Mertens who found the 'fire-hole' several times in those games and who was also our MVP. Our MIP went to A. Khonsari who had never even played hockey before but agreed to go between the pipes for us and played remarkably well. Thanks to captains: D. Andrews, S. Brett, and J. Farrugia. Thank you also to A. Zwingenberger and A. Russell for their help along the way and special thanks to N. Collingwood for his exemplary cheerleading skills behind the bench.

The First Hockey season ended with a whimper and unfortunately, the ending tended to overshadow what was, in most respects, a very enjoyable and successful season.

The first half included an exhibition tour of U.S. Colleges in upstate N.Y., a hard fought 3 - 2 loss to eventual ISL champions LCS, and a very convincing 5 - 2 home ice win over TCS.

After a post exam warmup tournament in London, the Saints travelled to Boston to compete in the very prestigious Milton - Nobles tournament. Rob Mantrop scored on a breakaway with seconds left in the 1st half to give SAC a 2 - 0 lead in the consolation final with Canterbury. However, even the heroics of Christian Stein weren't enough to hold this very strong team from Connecticut and we ended up 3

- 2 losers.

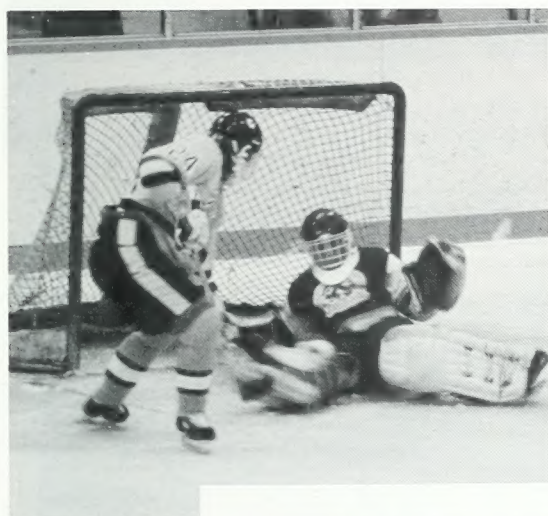

The experience in Boston seemed to serve us well in the New Year, as the team found itself in the final of the 16 team Coca-Cola Classic tournament in Moncton. The Saints played flawlessly in the round robin portion, winning the best defensive team award and placing Marc Belliveau and Christian Stein on the all-star team. In an unforgettable final against a physically superior Quebec team, it seemed every player had raised his play to a new level and the score was 1 - 1 after 2 periods. Marc Belliveau was sensational in front of his home crowd. We lost 6 - 3 ultimately but no one felt like losers.

January included two unlikely come from behind victories (one with 3 seconds remaining) over eventual OFSAA champions UCC and a MacPherson tournament Friday night 1 - 0 loss to UCC.

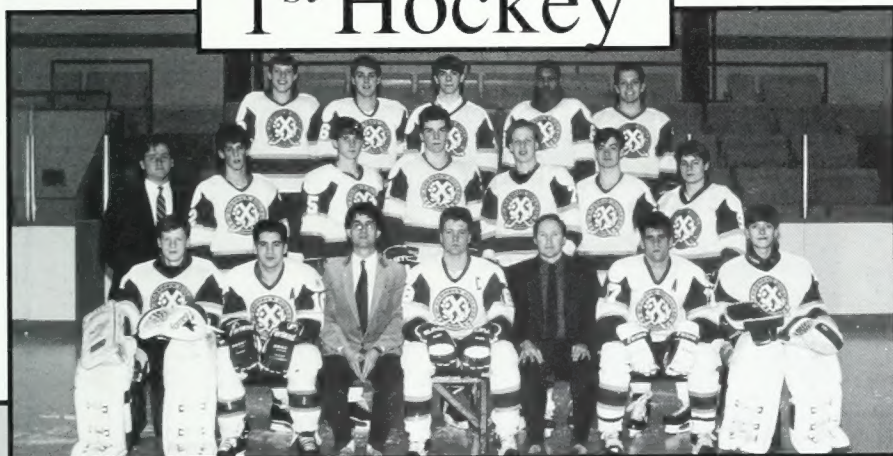

Perhaps the greatest testimony to our team's character, was their reaction to the disappointment and embarrassment of this loss to their arch-rival. Twelve hours later, in a see-saw, must- win battle with a very good Dunbarton team, Marc Belliveau scored with little time remaining to put us into the playoff round and eventually into the tournament championship for the first time in 7 years.

And then came February and hasty exits from both ISL and York Region play. For returning players we have unfinished business. Many thanks to the graduating players (Chisholm, Melnyk, Mantrop, Reid, Russell and Stein) for setting us on the right track. Goodluck to captain Matt Chisholm (Colby), Rob Mantrop (Hobart) and Christian Stein (Notre Dame).

Under 13 Basketball

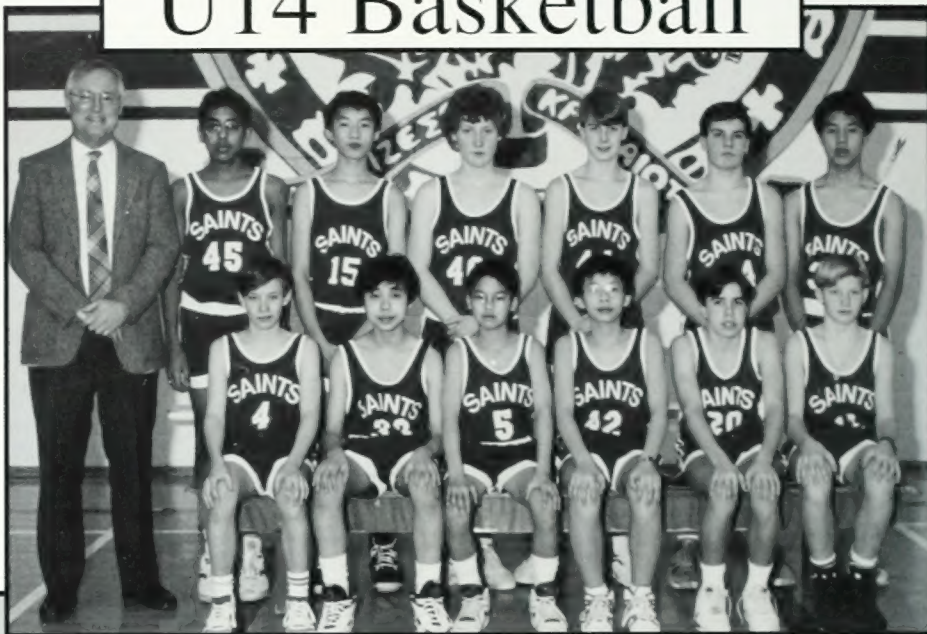

After coaching with Mr. Josselyn at the 1st team level last year and watching some very talented young men capture the College's first ISAA championship in many years, I decided to check out the other end of the spectrum with some of the youngest members of the school. The team was fortunate to inherit five members of last year's team who were young enough to play again at this level. They became our nucleus for a relatively successful year for the Under 13 squad.

We finished the season with a 6 win and 7 loss record (2 wins and 4 losses in the ISAA league). With the exception of three games, all of our matches were decided in the last few minutes by fewer than 6 points. The highlight of our season was an overtime loss to the eventual league tournament champion Crescent School, by a small margin. In the ISAA Tournament held on March 7, we advanced to the semi-finals where we were beaten by a strong squad from UCC.

Special mention should be made of our captain Ronald Ho and assistant captain Jon Armstrong who were excellent role models for the other members of the team. Greg Ho was selected as the team's MVP while Jeff Mesina edged out many worthy candidates for the team's MIP award. I trust that all members continue with their pursuit of improving the basic skills and will move on to the U14 program.

The U16B basketball team was established this year as a result of a determination and keenness on the part of several individuals who wanted to stay in the game in spite of the fact that there could be very few games for them and that there was really no chance of a tournament at the end of the season. They continued to practice as a team and learn the fundamentals of the game. The hope is that these players will continue to make an all-out effort to stay in the game of basketball both for their own benefit and for the benefit of St. Andrew's College.

As their coach, I would like to thank them for their interest in the game and their dedication to the team. This particular group of players, along with the U15 team helped to make this past season a most enjoyable one.

This year's Under 15 basketball team was comprised of several keen and talented young players. Unfortunately, the schedule for a team of this calibre did not provide a sufficient number of games for the players to develop as they might have had the season been longer. In spite of this particular shortage, these players played to the best of their ability at all times and are to be commended for their performance against the opposition. This season proved to be one of the most enjoyable ever for the coach and for that he thanks you all very much and encourages each one of you to continue in the game.

There has not been a team in my existence at St. Andrew's College with more heart, drive and desire to win than this U16 team. The team appeared as a force to be reckoned with from day one and was handed its one and only ISAA loss of the season after six straight wins, including an impressive 35 point rout of Appleby.

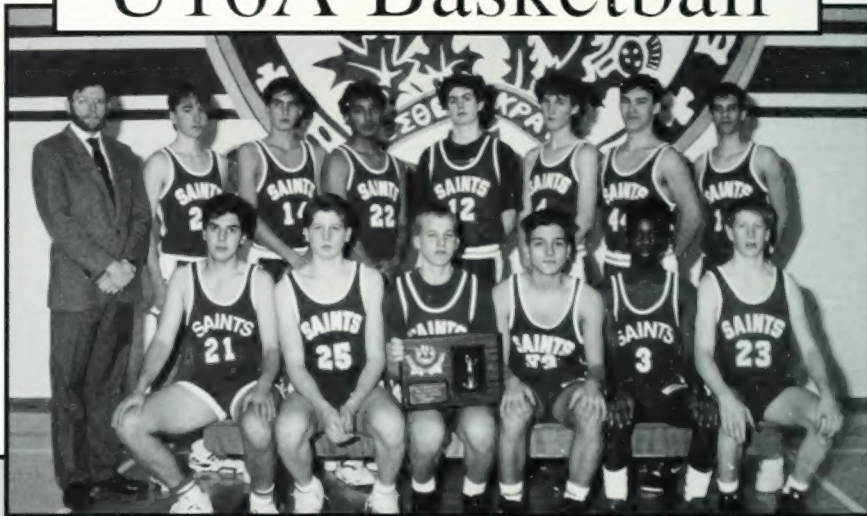

The team was lucky to be gifted with such raw talent as Ian Cragg and Derek Bulas, and was made by those who gave their all just to stay on the court. The future looks bright for this team with superstar Tim Jackson returning as well as Hurley, Battiston and Di Gianni.

The successfulness of this team however can be almost entirely credited to one individual. With his patience and good nature, Mr. Perrier deserves the honour of probably being the best basketball coach the school has seen. The team thanks him very much for his assistance in Rocking the Basketball World.

During this 91-92 season first basketball proved itself, to this and other schools, to be a very competent program. We started off very well, thanks in part to Mr. Kinney who took on the role of team trainer. Without this added edge some close games against Appleby and Ridley surely would have been lost.

Day in and day out the team relied heavily on the valiant efforts of the center, co-captain, and M.V.P. Carlos DelPino, who continuously tipped in shots, pulled down rebounds, lost his temper, and of course scored (usually half the team's points). Beside him at forward co-captain and bodyguard Garret Taylor, A.K.A. Paul

Walker, provided some relief in the scoring department when the big guy was double teamed. The southpaw forward Tim Horton, a member of the P.T. club, provided constant support and showed a devastating spin-move to the hoop, when the opportunity arose. Finally at forward, the air-born Drew Downard (also a member of the P.T. club) showed dazzling reverse cradles, an uncanny jumping ability, and a knuckleball that made him premier foul shooter.

At small forward, the veteran Brent Riopell proved that it's defense that really counts and so got the toughest players to defend and usually shut them down. His boxing out is remembered by opponents everywhere. John "Montreal" Delphin pulled from his bag of tricks a perfect baseline jumper and a knack of boxing out which earned him the title "round mound of rebound". His good humour continually lifted the teams spirits.

At guard stood co-captain and fellow bodyguard Dave Kim who supplied the team with clutch three pointers and calmed the offense down when carelessness set in. His passing ability, especially in the semi-final game, went unrecorded but not unnoticed. Tim Stinson provided deadly accuracy at guard and amazing "but" moves to the basket that made him an important scoring element. Next year, watch out for this guy! Bart Sommerville, the final member of the P.T. club, was a late entry to the team, but his ball handling skills helped pick-up the team when in a slump. This unselfish player was a true competitor and set the fire back into the game. Mike Lamb's piston like dribbling left opponents in the dust and his quickness led to constant scoring opportunities, either with his rugby passes to on-rushing players or his drive to the hole.

With occasional appearances by guard Scott Armstrong and manager Jeff Holliday, Mr. Josselyn coached this team to a 29 and 4 record in two leagues, and an undefeated championship in the ISAA league, beating Ridley for the second year in a row 71-55 in the finals before a sell-out crowd at S.A.C. The York Region league proved disappointing in the end with losses to Newmarket High in both the York and DYSSA finals. However, the cheering of Tom Hockin and his crew were greatly appreciated.

This team had a great year and next year should be as exciting if not more. Good luck!

The Senior Squash program had over 30 players try out for the 6 1st and 6 2nd team spots. Being a competitive program this number was cut to 18 players. Throughout all levels of play there was fierce inter-squad competition. The 2nd team level was lead by veterans Richard Fraser (MVP) and Mark Maby. We were fortunate for the welcome addition of the Mexican tennis convert Alfonso Reyes. The rest of the ranks were taken over by some relative new comers to the game the MAC House Squashers made up of John Herde, Rob Clarke (MIP), and Dwyran Rodgers. These three were perhaps the most dedicated to the game, playing at all hours of the day or night whenever they could find an empty court.

In the ISAA finals the league experimented with a new format this year which introduced a double knock-out feed into the consolation. Richard Ting (MVP) and Stuart Smith Competed in the 'A' flight, Warren Lam and Raymond Chan in the 'B' flight and Eugene Ka along with Tariq Siddiqui (MIP) battled for SAC in flight 'C'. With this format Tariq was fed into the 'C' flight consolation which he won in a convincing final match. Eugene's strategic play was much improved by the season's end but he had a tough draw. Warren worked hard all season to develop his skills so he should have a more successful season next year. Raymond always kept the coach in suspense as to whether he would show for a match. In the finals Raymond did arrive and played very well, finally losing to the eventual flight winner. Hopes at the 1st team level were weakened for the second year in a row by an ankle injury to a top player. This year Stuart Smith suffered a bad sprain and was off court for several weeks. Stu tried to gain back his prior competitive form but he was unable to regain the confidence, strength and winning edge he clearly had before the injury. Still he was very keen to compete and with lots of tape he was able to help in the finals where he played better than expected.

For three years now I have seen a talented athlete, Richard Ting, work hard to enhance his own game and to assist with the coaching of his teammates and the junior players. Not without physical and emotional hurdles and limitations to overcome and accept, Richard has given unselfishly of himself to the squash program at St.

Andrew's. I wish him as much good fortune as luck and dedication can bring. To those other members of the team who are leaving us, I hope you pursue squash at the University level for there is still lots of competitive play in you and available to you. To the rest of the guys I look forward to improved success next season.

Team members worked diligently to improve personal scores and some outstanding shooting was demonstrated by Allan Best who tied for 3rd best shot individually in the province and Simon Hall who tied for 4th best shot.

Special mention should be made of Simon Hall who proved to be an extraordinary marksman for the school and who was awarded the S.A.C. Shooting Trophy for 1991-1992. Simon fired the first perfect target (100%) in the history of St. Andrew's. This feat can be likened to hitting the heads of 10 pins at 60 feet.

Lindsay Pucholt was also voted as the Junior team MIP for his outstanding improvement in the middle distances. At this time I'd like to thank all team members for their hard work and dedication, I enjoyed working with all of you. This year both of the teams looked forward to the new season and truly felt "at home" having completed one season in the wonderful new facility. With the return of a large number of swimmers from last year we began to train with the confidence of being assured our share of victories in the upcoming competitions. Aided by the addition of a couple of new swimmers to the First Team and several new additions at the Second Team level we fared well in both dual and tri-meet competition.

Once again SAC had the honour of hosting the final competition, the 51st Annual ISAA Championship and the 8th Annual Second Team Tournament. For the first time ever, with the coed schools of Albert, Appleby, Ridley, and Trinity College competing, a Girls' Open Meet was part of the day's events.

In the Girls' Open Meet Ridley College was first with 77 points, followed by Appleby Girls with 41 points with TCS Girls closely on their heels with 40 points and Albert Girls with 22 points.

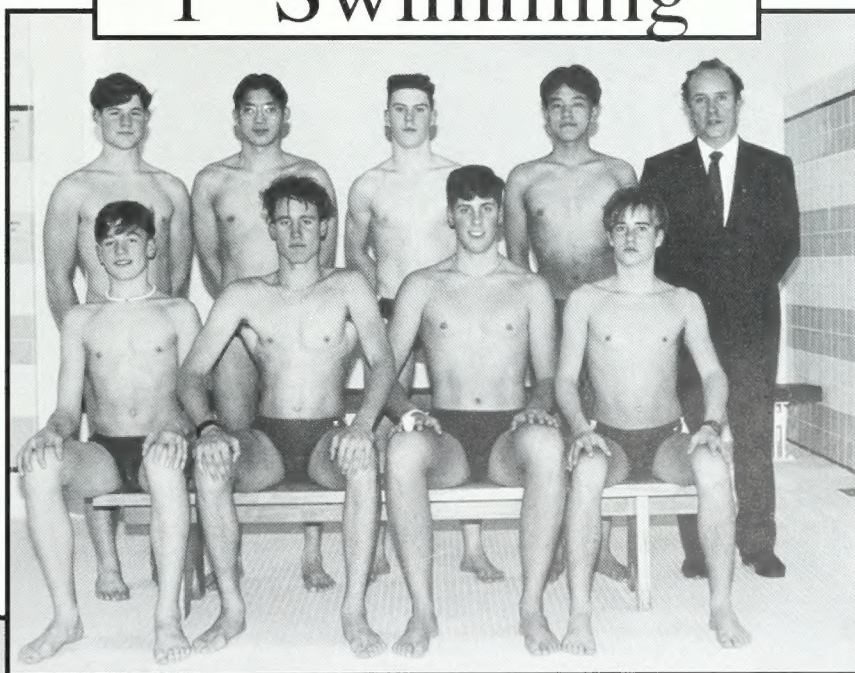

The Boys' Second Team Tournament was won by UCC with 75 points; second, TCS 42 points; third, SAC 32 points; fourth Ridley, 29 points; and fifth, Albert, 14 points. Boys' First Team Championship was won by TCS with 76 points; second, SAC 54 points; third, UCC 34 points; fourth, Appleby, 22 points; and fifth, Ridley

2 points. On the Second Team the MIP was awarded to Tom Brannon and the MVP to Jason Lamarche. Congratulations to both swimmers for the fine season.

The First Team MIP was awarded to Mike Kingston who narrowly missed breaking the established 50 metre freestyle record; the MVP to Willard Sing who established two new ISAA records this year at the championship meet to go along with the three he set last year. At this year's meet Willard set a new 100 metre IM record of 1:02.55 and as a member of the 4 x 50 metre freestyle relay team who bettered the team time of last year with a new time of 1:44.86.

With several boys returning from last season, we were able to field a strong team this year. It is difficult to choose a starting XV from 35 boys all vying for a position, but everyone was able to enjoy some playing time. Our first game against Appleby resulted in a narrow defeat, due in part to a lack of positional understanding. Overconfidence was the cause of a loss to Crescent. After building a huge lead at the half, we allowed them to pressure us constantly, resulting in a Crescent victory by a narrow margin. We won our remaining games against CDS, HTS, and UCC quite handily, the highlight being a decisive victory against an undisciplined UCC team. My thanks go to all the boys on the team who made this a most promising season, and to the captains, Paul Etherington, Ed Ham, and Julian Battiston for their leadership. Congratulations to the MVP and MIP, Paul Etherington and Mark Newton, and many thanks to Mr. Day for sharing his knowledge of the game with the boys.

The Under 17 rugby team played in a very competitive ISAA league this year, with most teams very evenly matched. The results were both encouraging and disappointing. We successfully defeated the strong teams sent by both Appleby and TCS, but were unable to handle the relatively weaker sides of Crescent and Ridley. The season record ended at 4 wins and 2 losses.

All members of the team contributed to the fine record, but several distinguished themselves above the crowd. Jose Sotres, the team MVP and captain provided steady, innovative leadership at scrum half, John Delfin was a constantly strong force to be reckoned with at prop and Sean Etherington, while injured for much of the season was a stand out a full back.

Many of the team members were either new to the game, or were playing new positions. Rob Kelly, the team MIP, excelled at the new position of Hooker and Mark Hamilton quickly became one of the league's best wingers. Through hard work and dedication to practice, both Rob Luxemburger and Austin Page earned starting positions on team by the end of the season.

Many of the team members will undoubtedly make strong contributions to the first 15 next season, but with 16 possible returning players, the prospects for another successful season at U17 look very promising indeed. The coaches would like to thank and congratulate the entire team for their dedication towards practice and positive attitude

Despite many runs, hard work, and an abundance of talent and experience we were not able to go all the way. Exhibition games against Barrie Central and the Old Boys were promising, but the key league games that had to be won - T.C.S. and U.C.C., the eventual co-champions - were narrowly lost. We enjoyed hosting two U.K. teams, St. Cyres from Wales and King Edwards from England. They helped our early season preparations, and whetted our appetite for a March

Break tour next year.

We were very well represented on the ISAA All Star team by Ali Khonsari (captain), Matt Chisholm, Rory Manning, and Rob Mantrop. Other standout players during the season were Mark Shillum, Sean McGrath, Brian Spence and Chris Thompson. To the graduating students, Mr. Smith and I thank you for your effort and support, especially Matt, Rory and Andrew Zwingenberger, three year veterans, and the last remaining members of the unbeaten '90 team. Thanks also to Rory for captaining the side in such a determined way. May you all enjoy your rugby in the future.

With the right discipline, unity and resolve, next year we can rise to the top again. The talent is there, up and coming, and the desire must be also.

S.Swan

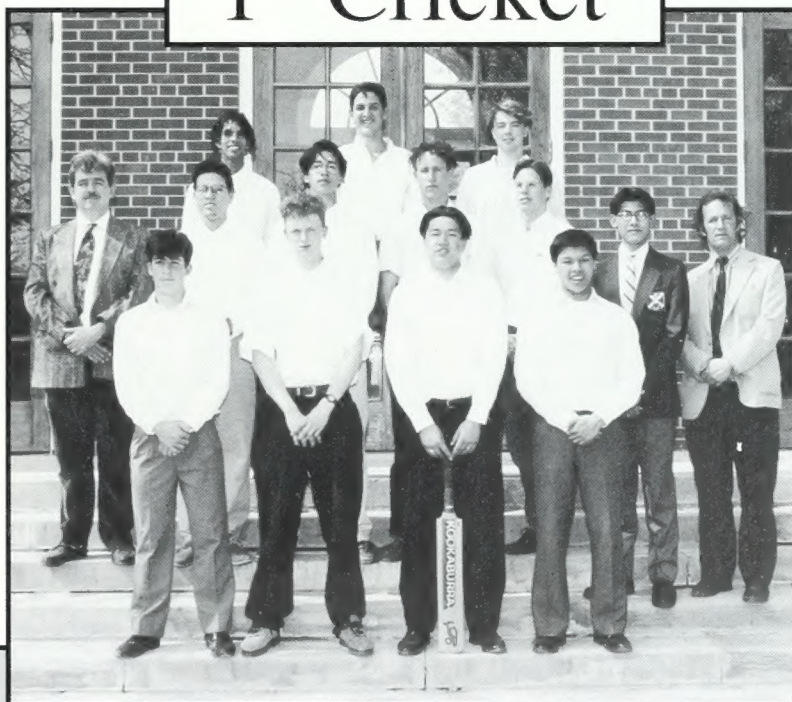

The first cricket team did not enjoy a vintage season. Inclement weather and water from nearby housing projects left the field underwater and festooned with wild fowl until the middle of May. This inconvenience was exacerbated by the fact that the new cricket netting did not arrive from England on time and they were of the wrong dimensions. This year's team was made up of players from eight different countries. Our Captain and most gifted player was the Korean David Kim. He was supported by Mark Etherington, Robert Clarke from Trinidad and Jeff Cerilles from Australia. After a loss to UCC we defeated highly favoured T.C.S. and then Lakefield. It was unfortunate that these excellent results were followed by two narrow defeats by Ridley and a match abandoned due to rain against Appleby. The team had a marvelous time on and off the field. My special thanks to Mr. Josselyn for all his help in coaching and to Albert Poon for his efficient scoring and management. Let us hope for a more happy situation for this magnificent game in 1993. Robo

I.S.A.A. Champions

The "Dream Team", is perhaps one way of describing this year's addition of the 1992 SAC Track & Field team. Never have I coached such a hungry, determined and highly motivated team. The team set a goal at the beginning of the season, and that was to capture our third consecutive I.S.A.A. championship. Our first team practice, on March 31, took place in a snow storm, but the TEAM stuck it out and finished the workout. Perhaps the character of this team was determined at the conclusion of that first practice but whatever it was they were committed to the TEAM. Throughout practices and training different individuals helped coach other team members, as the 60 full-time team members were too much for the coaching staff to handle. No more was this sense of TEAM evident than at the I.S.A.A. track & field championships, that were held on Saturday, May 23. The TEAM set-up camp together, prepared for their events and then set about at the task at hand, and that was to do their very best on the day that mattered the most. At the conclusion of the meet the results said it all:

MIDGET BOYS CHAMPIONS
218 points
JUNIOR BOYS CHAMPIONS
176 points
SENIOR BOYS CHAMPIONS
220 points
OVERALL CHAMPIONS
614 points

At this time I'd like to congratulate all team members for their dedication and commitment to the TRACK & FIELD program at SAC. You were true sportsmen, in every sense of the word. It was indeed a privilege for the coaching staff to work with such a fun, enthusiastic and motivated team. Thank you again and I hope to see most of you once again next year!

We saw much improvement in the level of play this year. Several fine additions to the first team were key to our success. Techee Cheung, who is new to St. Andrew's, brought a sense for the game that many of his teammates profited from. Marc Belliveau, one of our hockey stars, brought his natural skills to the court and did very well—we hope to see more of him next year.

I would like to thank Mr. Kimmerer in his new coaching assignment for his dedication and skill on the court. Many players benefitted greatly from his experience and patience.

The first team finished 2nd this year at the ISAA tournament second only to a very strong team from UCC. Alex Von Arb, a clear standout for MVP this year, won several key matches and demonstrated a level of skill that will surely make him a strong element of next year's team. Jeff Wong developed consistently throughout the season as a member of the second doubles team and has been honoured with the MIP award for his excellent effort.

The under 16 team finished 3rd at their tournament and deserve a heartfelt "thank-you" from the coaches for their determination and outstanding progress over the season. This is a team that graduates many excellent and potentially excellent players to the first team next year. The MVP this year clearly goes to Terence Cheng for his consistent high level of play. The MIP goes to William Lee in a decision that was slightly more difficult—given to the number of candidates—but no less deserved. Congratulations!

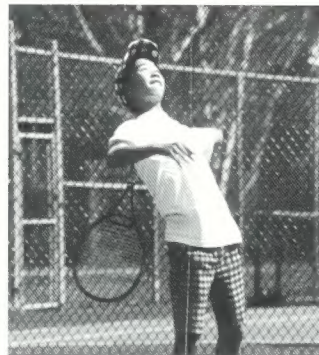

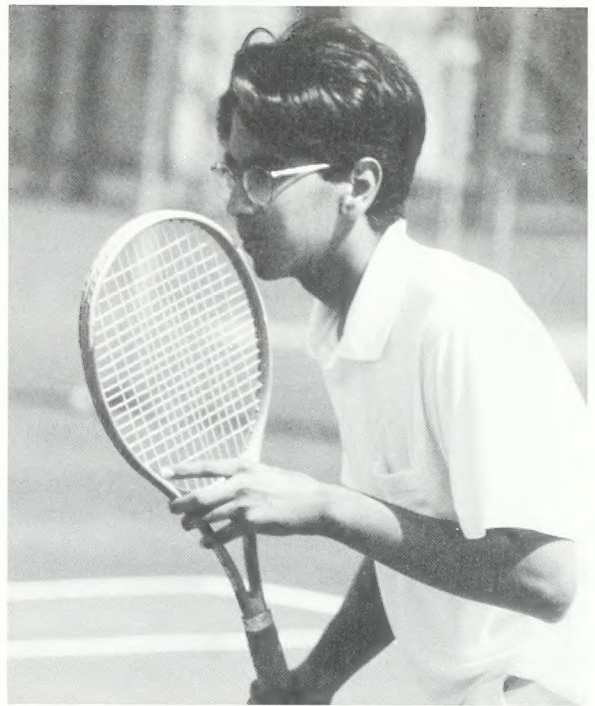

I would like to say good-bye to Michael Kwong and Hilton Leung two graduating members of the first team. Thank-you gentlemen for your interest and effort. Until next year,

Four of the five players return next year, so we should have a good change of recovering the championship trophy.

Senior tennis experienced a fragmented yet busy season. The truly dedicated player gained a great deal while the less-disciplined one simply blew off steam and energy.

Varied results accompanied both teams this year. They were competitive, and if they lost, it was usually by a 3-2 margin.

The Saints Lacrosse program was again very enthusiastic despite several formidable obstacles - the main one being a division that kept telling us our team didn't exist. And yet even after having to cancel games because of a referee shortage or having to put up with a team walking off the field because of our toughness, our team held together. I am grateful to the young men who remained dedicated and optimistic throughout our season. To my graduating players I extend my thanks and hope that they find time in university for Lacrosse. Good luck gentlemen. For our returning veterans and new players I can say that next year looks bright. We are in a new division and we've recently acquired an indoor lacrosse set which will help us train before our season opens. MVP honours went to J. Reid and MIP went to M. Chan. Thank you to captains A. Smith, D. Montgomery, J. McIntosh and S. Smith. Enjoy the beaches more this summer with your sticks!

Homecoming

Homecoming 1991 promised much excitement. It was the year of the Terminator, and TCS had come to be terminated. However, things do not always work out as they do in Hollywood and our teams will have to go back to their drawing boards to re-work their scripts for next year. Despite disappointments on the scoreboard, the day held lots of excitement for returning Old Boys and Andrean supporters. An enthusiastic crowd enjoyed the day's matches and met for lunch in the Great Hall. Later, Old Boys gathered at the Headmaster's to meet and mingle. A dinner honouring the Class of '42 was hosted by Jim Herder and the Development Office while St. Andrew's students and their dates wrapped up the day with a dance in the New Gym. All in all, it was a memorable occasion. Hasta La Vista Homecoming 1991!

Cadets

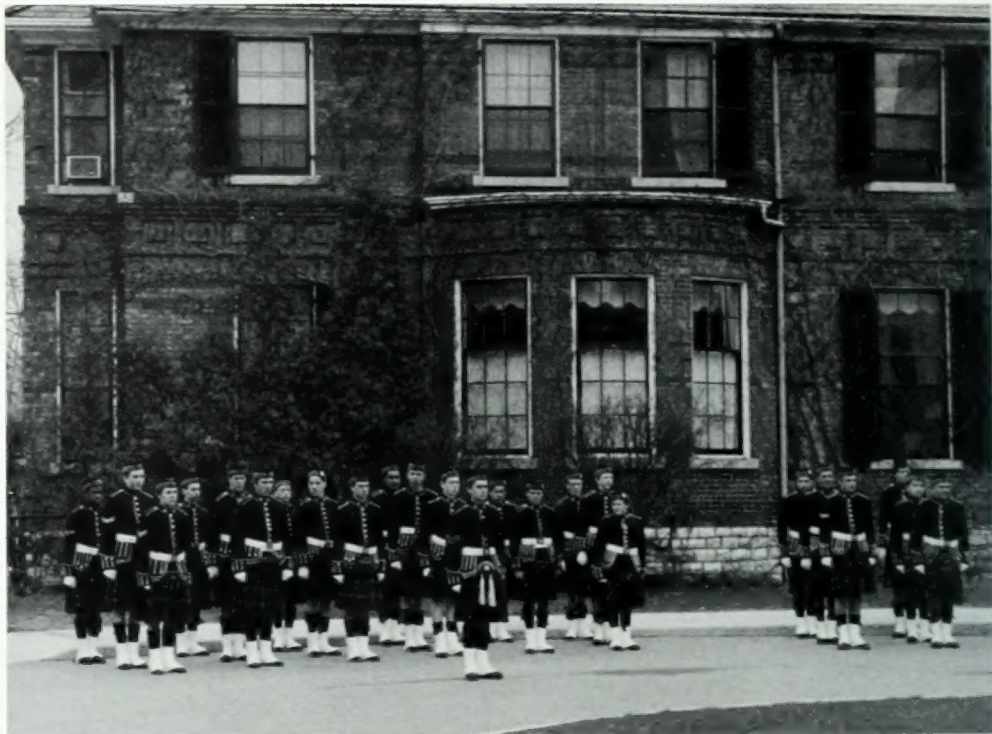

Gentlemen:

Cadets is much like parsnips. Some people like them, some people hate them, and some people, being good politicians, will eat just enough to keep the peace. The Corps this year had participants in each of these categories.

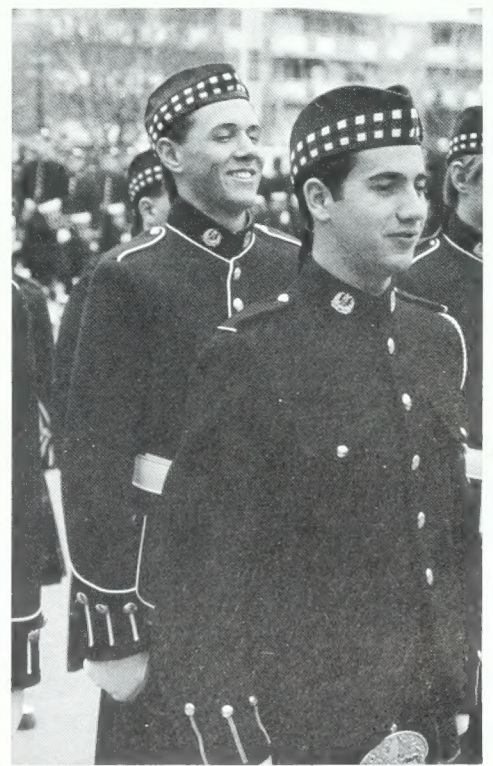

Our Annual Inspection goes back to the year 1906 and is one event which still requires the whole school to work together as a team to achieve success. This year the elements conspired against us and forced us into an inhospitable venue and required us to make compromises. Despite all of this you rose to the challenge and exhibited grace under extreme pressure and the ability to work as a team. You also showed another commendable quality, the ability to adapt quickly to new circumstances.

For this and all your efforts this term I and my colleagues salute you.

ARTS & LITERATURE

St. Andrew's College 26th annual musical got off to a slow start this year. Finding courageous students to sing in front of 500 people, and putting on a major production in six weeks proved to be difficult tasks, but when it approached the final dress rehearsal, everyone came through. The result was a hilarious production that received standing ovations on both Friday and Saturday night.

We couldn't have done it without the devotion and enthusiasm of John and Lee Clements, and the hard work of Mrs. Ham and her staff. Thanks must also go to the hard-working cast and crew, who made rehearsals as funny as the musical. I hope that we can recruit as lively a group next year. Once again, thanks to EDE - we'll be looking for you at Charlie's.

Sonnet

I disbelieve in instant love. It took
A second glance for me to know that she Would shine in all my thoughts. A longer look
Completely backed my early prophecy:
A paragon of beauty, brilliance, grace;
Her every motion posed as in a dance,
Her hair swirled auburn-damp around her face,
I watched her and I thought, "Have I a chance?"
I saw her in the sun upon the lawn,
A garden goddess in a wide-brimmed hat.
She flirted with her friends, suppressed a yawn
And stretched out slowly like a languid cat.
Unconsummated went my love, for she
Was ten years older (far too old) for me.

Beatties swarmed with petulant brats and mothers, anxious, or like cats hissing and harassing the clerks.

Observe the new private school moms
(dragging children sucking their thumbs)- they always bring the clothing list.

Mothers proudly spending money decking princely little honey in school uniform rich and rare:

shoes and shirts and navy jackets.
Can the salesman really hack it?
special demands and rush orders -

some people simply cannot wait and tolerate the standard date the time that alterations take.

Christian Dior, Sung or Polo
shop in groups or maybe solo
Wait two hours but service is good.

"Twenty-five! Number twenty-five!"
(Is this customer still alive?)
No response. "Serving twenty-six!"
Spend at Beatties money and time.
Shopping for children is sublime:
you feel so saintly deep inside.

The Challenge of a Free Society

"For every action there is an equal and opposite reaction." Sir Isaac Newton! You were, indeed, a wise man. Yes socially as well as scientifically, your theory applies. Freedom would mean nothing to society were it not for its antithesis, order. Ideally, then, the utopian community would be a uniform union of both of these natural forces. The struggle to obtain this status has often been referred to as the history of mankind. Now, in this crucial final decade of the twentieth century, we have reached a finite point where we believe we must chose between our two options. Freedom. Order. Ultimately, both lead to human despair. Sacrifice one at the expense of the other and prepare to meet the hell of ages past. But combine these two separate ideals to make them one, and we, as a society, may very well achieve our goals.

On an individual basis, to be free and yet in control of oneself is a lofty aspiration indeed. And we must all be held personally accountable for our own actions. Society, however, is far more complicated, with a mass of individuals striving to subsist together in harmonious bliss. Here, man has the power to greatly influence his brother, and as history proves, the results have been most dramatic. The notorious Roman Empire as well as the French Absolute Monarchy of the 17th Century both demonstrate the power a society can hold, built entirely on order and control. Tighten the iron glove further and we are left with Apartheid or the fellowship of Nazi Germany. Is this the ideal sociey we seek?

On the other side of the spectrum, we confront true freedom. We've seen it happen time and again. The nomadic Neanderthal family of the ice age; incest is best, my friend; or, the epidemic of barbarian tribes prevalent following the fall of Rome. Then there is the aftermath of war. With no laws or restrictions to suppresss them, societies are capable of immense degrees of inhumanity. By simply governing oneself under the rules of absolute autonomy, the individual loses his ability to interact effectively with others. Thus, truly free societies fail to have human collaboration of harmony.

There are those who yearn for freedom. And then there are their landlords who work hard for the other thing. Everything is balanced, Sir Isaac. I see that now. The conservatives versus the liberals: man versus woman. Freedom versus order! It is not a question of a free society, nor an orderly society, but rather that of a perfect one. We are interdependent beings, and always will be. What have we learned from our mistakes? From history? What are we going to do about our quest for the answer? Utopia lies ahead, but only where the two roads meet. Freedom. Order. It is the duality of life. We cannot reject it. As a society, we must learn to love our opposites, and accept that both our destinies lie together.

A Tragic Creation

Not a bad death, I must say. It worked just like I had planned it. Clean, quick, and right to the point - pun intended. Now came the moment of truth. It seemed like I'd been waiting forever, and I had never been this ready to face a test. I'd been a God-fearing Christian, gone to Church once a week, and lived as He would have me, obeying every rule, except for that last one - obviously. But I was more prepared today than I was on my wedding day.

"Wedding day?", a voice boomed from nowhere. "At least you didn't commit suicide on your wedding day! Your wedding day was great, and so was the rest of your life! I want an explanation for this last little stunt!"

"God?, Is that you?" I'd been waiting all my life to see this man.

"I said explanation! Now!!" The voice boomed.

"Well..." I didn't know what to say. "I felt that I had lived...to my fullest, and that I was ready for...heaven."

"You imbecile! You sinner! Go to hell!" He was screaming, "Get this idiot out of here!!"

A light flashed.

I couldn't go to hell.

"Wait!"

It was no use. I could feel his presence, and now it was gone. Maybe suicide wasn't such a great idea after all. But still, it must have been my only sin in thirty-seven years. I just hoped He was kidding about going to Hell.

I could see a light at the end of a dark tunnel. Could it be that I might still make it to heaven? I groped towards it in a desperate frenzy, kicking and crawling until I reached a tiny door. Squeezing into a bright room, I looked up to see a man in white standing ahead of me. Was it God? Had I atoned? He picked me up, smacked my bottom and spoke. "Gootchie-Gootchie-Goo! It's a boy!"

It was then I realized He really did send me to hell, and I began to cry louder than I've ever cried before.

Sonnet V

Was it a Wednesday that we met? It seems
So very long ago. A quarter of
A year can be a lot: so many dreams
When we are young take little time. And love,
Of course, takes minutes only or a dance
Perhaps, when bodies press together could begin
Some thing which shimmers in the air and makes Me smile and sing with glee and phone you when I can. With you around I find it takes
An instant only, kiss, caress, and then
I'm all secure, invulnerable at last
Glad for the future, joyous in our past.

LADIES' GUILD ESSAY WINNER

This year's annual competition produced two outstanding essays. The Review is happy to include both these winning essays in its pages.

Racism in Today's Society

Children have a very large range of perception. They are capable of taking in everything they hear but they are unable to completely analyze it, and even more unable to accurately distinguish between right and wrong. Many ideas or opinions which we carry with us our entire lives are learned during childhood. This is the period in life when a person is the most vulnerable to someone else's ideas. This is why racism should be strongly discouraged and the topic properly discussed during a child's early years.

Even though a certain degree of racism is natural, as man tends to stay with his own culture, in today's society it can be extremely dangerous. Every year hundreds and thousands of men and women all over the world are shot and killed over racial disputes. We elaborately teach young children in our society how to protect themselves against AIDS, so we should also give them a full understanding of racism and why it should be discouraged. If we wait until they are older, because it is such a controversial issue, their ideas will be so deep-rooted that they will be hard to change.

Racism is the protest of the ignorant. Racists feel they are being invaded while not thinking about who was invaded when Europeans started to inhabit the American continent. Some feel so strongly about cultural differences that they go as far as murder to satisfy their thirst for purity. Their racism is founded on ignorance and their own sense of inadequacy; they may be only looking for a scapegoat for all their problems and mistakes. Perhaps if they had been properly taught about racism and its dangers, they might have done something about their problems instead of just blaming them on the innocent.

In the technological world we live in today such racism seriously hinders progress as it does not permit certain people to work together and therefore use their abilities to the limit. Companies are strongly encouraging racial interaction, but this cannot change the ideas that have been in a man's head for a good number of years. It is easier to teach the kids early in life about racism than to change a man's ideas, as both Abraham Lincoln and Martin Luther King found out.

It is also inevitable that with the world population growing at an incredibly fast rate, we will soon have to live in constant contact with people from all sorts of races and religions. It will be impossible to live in harmony if certain present-day, racial attitudes continue. Now, more than ever, it is imperative that we teach the young kids in our society how to interact with different races, and this should not be left entirely to the parents.

A controversial issue such as racism should be properly dealt with during a child's early school years. This will give a child a chance to hear both sides of the issue and then he can make up his own mind. We cannot teach a child not to be racist but we can show him the disadvantages of racism and hope he will be smart enough to choose wisely. Every individual makes a difference so we must properly educate as many as we can and we will all have a brighter future.

LADIES GUILD ESSAY WINNER

Canada's Saviour

The world-wide recession that seems to have taken a strangle-hold around businesses and consumers over the past year and a half or so has brutally awakened many citizens to the deficiencies in their own economy. Canada is no exception. With an increasing unemployment rate, a rising debt, and industrial decline, our home and native land is falling into moral despair.

As Canadians look around them they see the Japanese as a car manufacturing giant that has refined its industry into an art form. The Americans have the ability to produce the same goods, but much cheaper, and the Europeans are rapidly becoming an economic power through engineering and high technology. What are Canadians to do?

We must find a niche, something that Canadians can do better than anyone else...complain about our present leaders?...maybe. But the solution is probably one that many have overlooked; however, the industry of doors is an industry waiting to be monopolized. The door-making industry is Canada's industry of the future.

The manufacturing of doors is apparently a fairly easy and non-demanding operation. Cut a specific material into slabs, shape the slabs into large rectangles and put knobs on them. When we consider our recent ranking as a country in an international mathematics and science survey in which we placed in the bottom 50 per cent, the manufacturing of doors seems to be right down our alley. Give the Japanese their car industry, Canadians can take over the door industry. Our qualifications are excellent.

Canada has all the necessary resources to take over the door industry. We have a large labour force and when making doors, who cares if you're skilled or not? Timber of all sorts can be found in abundance in the Eastern and Western regions of our country. Our jeopardized steel industry and steel workers would be ensured stable employment as steel doors are more than ever required in our crime conscious country.

Furthermore, what is a better way to smooth things over with our Native countrymen than to offer them employment that pays well. Their unmatched art of carving wood can be incorporated into our new niche. Doors can be more than just slabs of wood. With exquisite design, our doors would fetch a high price on international markets. Canada is definitely an ideal location for this branch of trade.

As we slowly pull out of our recession, and international trade resumes as normal, the market for our doors will surely grow. As our world-wide population continues to swell with no end in sight, doors will become much sought after as the need for schools, houses, buildings, and prisons increases. All of these edifices require doors - lots of them. Doors will supply a growing market and Canada has the opportunity to capitalize.

The evidence is before us. Canada is qualified and the resources are there to make doors Canada's leading industry. Our country must follow a basic principle in economics which is to find out what one can make well and cheaper than anyone else and produce it in abundance. When the world thinks of cars it thinks Japanese; when it thinks of engineering it thinks European; but when it will think of doors, it will think Canadian!

Headmaster's Prize Day Speech

St. Andrew's College might be a calm and quiet place when compared with the turbulence of the world outside its gates, but in its own terms, it has had a busy and exciting year.

Such a stellar school year would not have been possible without tremendous behind-the-scenes support. I'm thinking particularly of the countless people who give unstintingly of their time, talent and effort, and without whom St. Andrew's College simply couldn't function. To all of these dedicated individuals - Mr. Peter Harris and the Governors, Mr. Tetlock and his efficient and eclectic staff, the Development Office under the direction of Mr. Herder, who is the creator of the prestigious ANDREAN, the Old Boys' Association, The Ladies' Guild, with a special mention to Sandy Keto, its president, and of course, the parents and masters of the school, my heartfelt appreciation. Thank you is painfully inadequate.

Traditionally, the Headmaster's Report deals with the salient events of the year and pays tribute to the key players in the various activities. For the sake of brevity, I will leave it to the school Newsletter, The Highlander, the adopted son of Mrs. Gayle McPherson, a Governor of the school, and to the school magazine, The Review, Mr. Treasure's production and the envy of our so-called competitors, to deal in detail with each occurrence and to give acclaim, where due. Nevertheless, I should like to mention some of these events and some of the accomplishments which we often take for granted, but which contribute to the diversity and the vibrancy of SAC.

During last summer, under the guidance of the "Student Life Committee" of the the Board, a great deal of work was done to the residences. Upon their return in September, the Upper School boarders realized that wholesale transformations had taken place. The overall effect has been outstanding - our carpenters tell us that they've had to direct their energies elsewhere, so little has had to be repaired during the year; more improvements are contemplated.

Over this past year, our students competed in a number of academically related contests, with impressive results. I will mention a few, focusing first on the area of debating and public speaking, which occupies a prominent place at the school. In one such contest, our nominees, Ryan McNally, Robert Leckey and Malcolm Ross, represented St. Andrew's in an International Independent School competition in Winnipeg, facing some 50 teams from the U.K., Cypress, Bermuda and all of Canada. St. Andrew's placed first overall. That is really quite an achievement.

For the past 2 years some 15 mathematics students have participated in senior National contests, under the auspices of the University of Windsor. St. Andrew's has placed 5th and 21st as a school in competition with the 250 other top Canadian schools represented.

In keeping with the leadership we have shown in the computer field, our representatives, Geoff White, Michael Worry, Jason Worry and Robert Burke, earned top honours in the "First Annual Programming Contest for Independent Schools", our Treble Choir again garnered first prize in the Lions' Music Festival; Deb Majumdar, Simon Williams, Matt Ward, Kam Chan and Julian Battiston were awarded 2nd place in the Junior Science Olympics.

Most of you have had occasion to view the school video, 'A Day at St. Andrew's'. As you may know, this 12 minute video depicts SAC as it really is. This video was entered in the International Film and Television Festival of New York which rewards achievements in communication. In competition with entries from 33 countries in the non-broadcast category, our video was awarded the Gold Medal, an outstanding accomplishment.

Once again, we were treated to some exceptional and unique theatrical performances: Macbeth, in the Fall, Paint Your Wagon, in the Winter term, and 5 distinctive plays during Focus, our Arts Festival. This event also gave everyone the opportunity to appreciate the wealth of talent our students have in the fields of music, art and poetry.

In Athletics, we experienced significant success in just about every one of our 18 competitive sports and their 51 teams. At the first team level, 2 major championships were earned - on in I.S.A.A. basketball for the second year in a row - with a major share of the credit going to MVP Carlos Del Pino, and a second in Track and Field, where our team totally dominated all other Independent schools and this, for the third straight year. Furthermore, the First Hockey team represented us handsomely in the Maritimes and in the Eastern U.S., aside from receiving acclaim in Metropolitan Toronto.

Much has been written about Sir Edmund Hillary's visit to St. Andrew's - the time he spent in the classrooms, the fund-raising dinner and Sir Edmund's presentation. This encounter with such a noble man, led directly to a never-to-be forgotten experience for 5 well qualified students who spent 6 weeks in the Himalayan mountains doing their share to improve the lot of the Nepalese people. Our thanks to Bob Arril and Fraser Cowell, the trek leaders, and to Tony Myrans for spearheading this project.

A special mention goes to Mrs. Farr of the Ladies' Guild, who facilitated the social awareness program, which, this year, dealt with the environment, motivation, living with Aids, believing in oneself and with the dangers of smoking. Also to be underlined is the work of the boys who bought food, clothing and toys for disadvantaged children at Christmas, and who canvassed for the Salvation Army.

As the Grade 13's will attest, some of our most important events this year fell prey to unstable weather conditions. It literally rained on their parade: the Church Parade was shortened, the Cadet Inspection, which had to be performed indoors was still eminently successful, and a well-organized Mayfest suffered from 6 hours of rainfall. However, we are most fortunate this afternoon-this proves that we haven't totally lost our pipeline with higher authorities.

A good indication of the quality of the food at St. Andrew's (regardless of what you may hear occasionally), lies in the annual award given by the grade 13's to the person on campus who, in their estimation, has made one of the most significant contributions to their everyday life. Their choice, in an unparalleled expression of gratitude, went to the manager of our dining room services, our chef, Mr. Mike Hillick.

To end this comprehensive review on a sad note, we must say goodbye to a special couple who joined us for this one short year on an exchange from Malborough College in England. To Andrew and Amanda Brown, our sincere thanks for your many contributions and for your friendship. We will remember you fondly: may you take with you similar sentiments towards St. Andrew's College.

And now to the graduates...

At one time or another, every one of us has gazed from the window of a bus or a train at landscape sweeping by. The sense of passage suggests the movement of our lives, as does the changing landscape, and provides a mental distance from immediate concerns. You sort out past decisions and events and see them in a fuller perspective.

Similarly, as your last day as a schoolboy moves swiftly by, these moments in the quad with the soaring chapel in the distance may provide a vantage point for reflection on the meaning of your St. Andrew's education and your encounter with it. What has it given you of knowledge, insight and breadth of vision?

You have gained in knowledge, surely, yet, important as it is, knowledge alone is not what most of you sought here.

Most of you, I hope, have seen that beyond the study of science or math or art, is the discipline and enlightenment of the mind - this is to say the development of insight and comprehension, or respect for fact and critical enquiry, and an allegiance to honest judgement. If something of that spirit of learning has become yours, it will not leave you.

I hope also that you will take with you from here a sense of brotherhood - a deep respect and tolerance for your fellow men and women, no matter what their race, religion, colour or lifestyle. In the movie Frankenstein, there's a touching scene in which the escaped monster comes upon the cottage of a blind hermit. The hermit, thinking his visitor merely inarticulate, calls him friend, which the monster respects and comprehends. Their encounter is disrupted by the pursuing villagers, but until they arrive, the hermit exhibits the essence of friendship. The hermit sees only the man within the monster, holding no other judgements. The reason that Shakespeare had Mark Anthony address his audience as "friends" before "Romans" and "countrymen" is that he knew how the heart leaps up at the smallest sign of brotherhood. Feeling more alone and isolated than ever in our fragmented country and world, we must also leap at those signs of friendship and brotherhood.

I hope you will carry with you a recognition of the complexity of human life and the world's problems. Your generation, in a measure far exceeding mine, has an awareness of, and indeed a passionate concern for, some of the pressing problems of the here and now - such as the environment, National unity, the Aids epidemic, persistent problems of racism and poverty.

What can you do to help in some way, however small, to move men and nations toward better rather than worse modes of existence?

You can, I suggest, begin by eliminating cynicism, even though realizing that our flawed world has always been in trouble, and probably will be so for ages hence. There has always been widespread uncertainty and indifference, deep-set violence and frequent conflicts in points of view. Many times over, it has been discovered that cynicism offers neither solution nor an end to the tough, vexing problems the human race faces.

In our times, the betterment of the human lot requires, more than ever before, the combining of humanitarian empathy with optimism and toughmindedness, sophisticated knowledge and a long view.

You who are about to graduate will find, I hope, that your years here have given you at least some of these insights, and that these will increase as you add new understanding and new wisdom to what you have acquired here.

So go forth, appreciating those who have made it possible for you to attend St. Andrew's, while recognizing today's problems and facing them with empathy, optimism, and a feeling of brotherhood.

R.P.Bedard (June 1992)

Valedictory Address

The Graduating class of 1992. Each and every one of us has a story to tell, and memories to share. The past five years are filled with laughs and smiles. How could you ever forget the antics of Torin Buzek, from his heydays in MacDonald house as a master electrician when he managed to electrocute himself, and then there was always the MacPherson Tournament. How could one forget Andre Russel, doing his impression of a human hood ornament? The details are unimportant because the bottom line is the same. What St. Andrew's has meant to us. Words like honour, tradition, and pride come to mind. All very fine attributes, but never in my five years at this place has one person ever mentioned family. Over our stay here, we have shared our lives with each other. Heart and soul have gone into this school. A long time ago we came through the gates and into this paradise, unsure and scared. Parting we are much better off for our experiences. We know who we are and what we want. Our future cannot be foretold, but we can take with us what we have learned. Next year we will tread upon uncharted territory. Today, at the finish line, before you is what we have become. What we are. A family.

We must not over look the accomplishments of this year. We hit first class standing in Basketball and Track. There are all the academic achievements you see recognized today. We sent a successful expedition to Nepal to assist in one of Sir Edmund Hillary's Projects. Debating reached the heights when we won the international independent schools public speaking contest in Winnipeg.

I would now like to extend my personal thanks to the prefects of this year, you guys were the greatest and thanks for all your help.

To the faculty, you have my utmost respect, you have become more than educators, you have become friends.

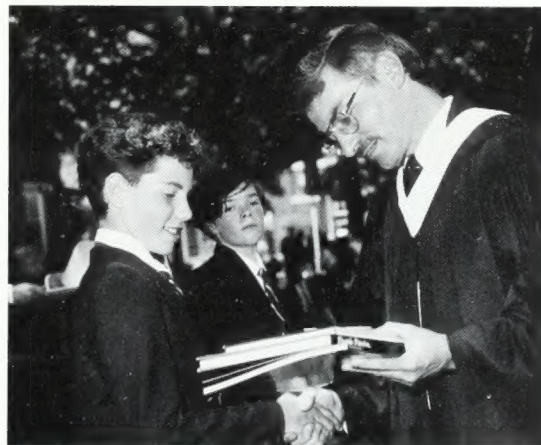

To my family. Dad, Mom, Shane, and Clodagh, thank you for allowing me this opportunity. At times it may have seemed like wasted effort, but thank you for having faith in my potential.

So on this afternoon, sweating and nervous, we bow and bid a final farewell with sweet anticipation, goodbye not to school, not to friends but to home.

To those we leave behind, it's hard to think of words which are appropriate, it's difficult to recognize what this school is about, but realize always, that without people, St. Andrew's is just a bunch of pretty buildings. To those of you here next year, who will take our places, take this school, leave your mark. Make it a place that you can call your own. Remember that St. Andrew's does not produce an Andrean. An Andrean produces St. Andrew's. You have the opportunity to make this school something special. Make us, and yourselves, proud.

HOUSES

Flavelle House

Flavelle had another successful year at the races and came out on top. The house had the spirit and comrad-erie that more than once lead us to victory, just take a look at our work and effort that brought us the gold at track and field day (no matter what the Siftonites will tell you). We had a good year and our grade 13's, pre-fects, and head of house all made it a year to remember.

Now let's not forget the presence of our housemaster who always gave help when needed, and at the end of the year the whole house needed that lobster tail BBQ.

Overall, the house brought new and old boys from around the world together and made us get to really know each other. Thanks again to everyone who made it another great year for Flavelle.

Memorial House

With Nick Collingwood and his chief lieutenants Best, Holliday, Magee, and Reid establishing guidelines and setting the pace, Memorial House very quickly took shape in September. There were highs and lows the rest of the way, but no different from previous years and presumably years forthcoming.

Clearly, bringing together 60 young men from many parts of the globe is as exciting as it is challenging. The most common trait, whether Canadian, Mexican, Asian, or European, was the difficulty that waking up posed.

Support for each other in inter-House activities and about the House was strong right from the start. There were more pizzas won by outrunning Mr. Perrier in the X-Country run than last year. This included Richard Kim and should duly be noted for posterity. Let it be known however that Mr. P's late arrival for the start of the race is viewed suspiciously as the work of a schemer since Mr. P. was seen with a parent moments before the start. Chris Hampshire led the way in the House Plays for a Memorial second place finish. Pat Hung and Ben Harland were soon identified as the math-science House Tutors. David Chu and Gilbert Lee were the House BBQ organizers and distinguished themselves as masterful chefs as well. With both in the Grade 12 class, the Grade 13 Graduation Dinner was skilfully prepared, complementing Sean McGrath's organization of the event.

Memories, some more favourable than others, are many. How can we forget Dan and Alex's return to campus after a late night stint at the donut shop under Grade 13 escort or Henry Stinson's singing artistry or Carlos' intimidating presence or Lord Jack, Memorial's champion of tardiness or Tim Stinson's wall of fame or Torin Buzek, our own Toller Cranston or the pizza box room of Ly and Brannon? And how could we forget the house Banquet featuring guest speaker, Mr John Walden, former member of Memorial, now one of its duty masters, who gave an interesting account of his school days in Memorial?

The torch is passed onto the Grade 12's with Sean McGrath and Matt Fraser at the helm, supported strongly by a solid Grade 12 group. It is expected that the example set by the Collingwood team will be maintained and accordingly we anticipate a productive 1992-1993 year.

Sifton House

Sifton House went through a major renovation this year. Everything from new paint on the walls and trim, new carpet on the floors, new prints and paintings hanging in the halls, a pop machine, a satellite dish, and a new housemaster. Enough changes to make any "freedom loving" Siftonian's head spin! And we certainly still had our freedom lovers in the "midnight donut shop visitors" which was associated with the "midnight streakers club", the "Phone Booth, Washroom Stall Graffiti Club", the "Mong, Wong, Kong Restaurant", the "2am. Satellite Movie Theatre Society", and the "Chris Dixon Hair Club for Men".

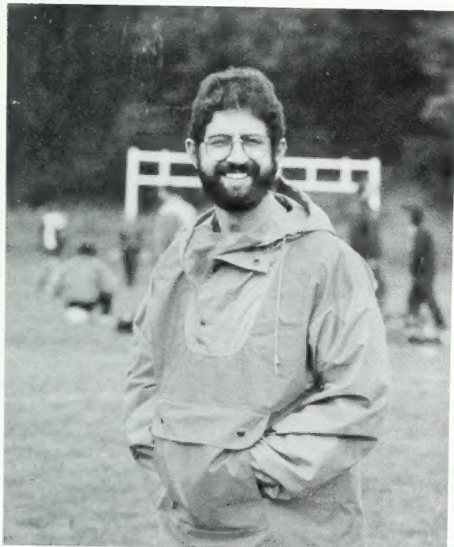

But after the initial shock the House took on a more positive, productive and involved approach to life at SAC. Lead by Head of House David Kim and Assistant Heads of House Rory Manning, Andy Kawai, Albert Poon, and Mark Maby the House went out and made an impact!

Sifton House finished 1st among the boarding houses in the Cross-Country in the Fall and tied for first (with the dreaded Flavelle) at the Track and Field Meet in the Spring. Our representation on 1st teams was second to none.

In the Arts we were well represented with Mark Maby, Tom Farr and Poarch involved in most of the major drama productions. (Although the House play could have used their help!) Ramon Cameron displaying his wonderful talent on the trumpet at many school functions and Ray Chuk photographed most of the events that took place this year.

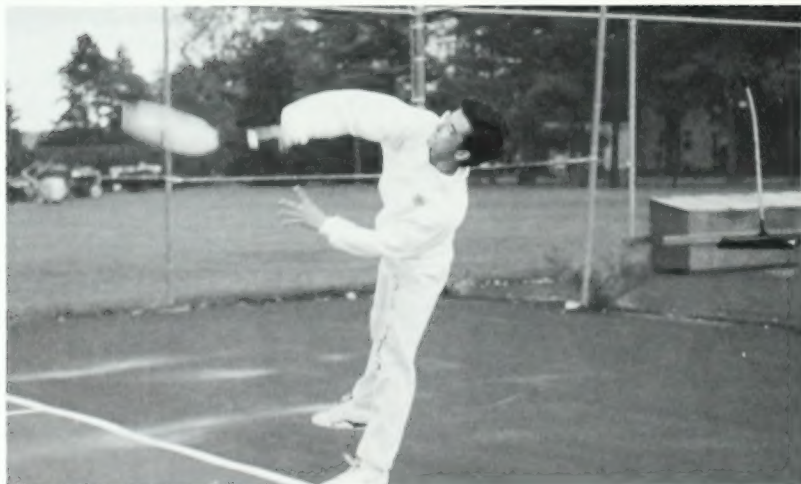

Two of our members were lucky enough to be chosen to represent SAC overseas on the exciting trip to Nepal and worked with the Hillary Foundation there. Both Albert Poon and Ian Craig worked hard in Nepal and returned to Sifton House bearing gifts and stories.

Mr. and Mrs. K. would like to thank all the boys for a great first year.

New House

Who could forget the spare periods in the Common room, the bbq's, interhouse competition, the house play, the lunchtime flee, the morning sign-ins, Mr. Somerville's check jacket and "Good-morning, gentlemen"? New House, aka Leslie Clan, was more than just alive and well and living in the basement of SAC. We were involved and committed in all facets of school activity and emerged as a dominant force in the St. Andrew's experience. The House put in a strong bid for the Housser trophy and came in a close second by only a very thin margin. We'll be number one next year! Thanks to Mr. Somerville and all the House members for an enjoyable and memorable year.

Ramsey House

As usual Ramsey students had a successful year in many aspects of the Andrean life. For the first time in six years we won the house-play competition with "The Play". 1992 also marked the second year that Ramsey won the Housser Trophy as the top clan. This award and all of our other numerous accomplishments could not have been possible without the focused dedication of all clan members. Congratulations to all on a terrific performance by a terrific house.

Laidlaw

This year has been another great one in Laidlaw House! I hope all of the members of the House enjoyed it as much as Andrew and I did and hopefully had a great time. Laidlaw had many competitive games against Mac House throughout the year such as water polo, baseball and our annual "tug of war". The House Captains helped throughout the year, cooking at our BBQ's and taking some of the Grade 9's out for dinner and bowling, but they ended up shooting pool. Our hats this year were a lot better than the ones last year, a little late coming in but a lot better.

On behalf of the members of the House, Andrew and I would like to thank Jason Perrier, Grade 7 representative, and Fred Perowne, Grade 8 representative, for helping us out organizing events. We would also like to thank Mr. Whitehead for helping us organize everything because we were both new at being heads of House. Finally, we would like to thank all of the house captains for everything they did, and most of all, the members of the House for making it such a great and memorable year.

Macdonald House

The members of Macdonald House have reason to take pride in their accomplishments during this past year. Anchored by a stellar group of Grade Nine residents, there was much more care and concern shown to each other by most of the boys in the House. Unfortunately some of our Grade Seven residents seemed to often be more interested in making life miserable for others but their influence was thankfully not well spread. Many successes were had in academics and extra-curricular activities around the College by quite a number of boys in the residence.

A first for Macdonald House this year was our House Banquet held on May 20 in the Great Hall. Our guest speaker was Mr. J.L. Wright, Housemaster of Macdonald House 1941-1964, who amused the audience with his recollections of life around the College during those years. He also helped present the J.L. Wright Award, for outstanding contribution to Macdonald house to its first recipient Kevin Hurley.

The best indicator of involvement in all College activities is our Clan system. Many boys worked very hard at a number of activities on behalf of their Clan. The five boys who garnered the greatest number of points for their clans were: Victor To (106), Edward Mercer (97), Julian Battiston (95), Jonathon Hui

(94) and Kevin Hurley (93). The recipient of the Rupert J. Ray Trophy for the year was Bruce clan captained by Tarek Juman and assisted by Ryan Sommerville.

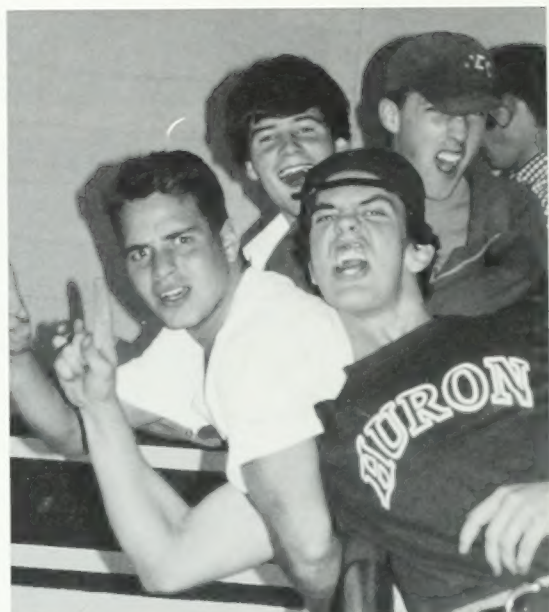

There were other boys who were recognized for their achievements, namely Ryan Sommerville (King Memorial Trophy), Karl Lippe (Edith Grant Trophy), Matthew McCartney (Ronald MacMillan Trophy) and Chris Heinig (Ladies Guild Trophy). Congratulations to all these boys for your efforts.

All the members of the Macdonald House Council, Julian Battiston, David Brannon, David Dunlap and Kevin Hurley deserve much thanks for a job well done. Our Heads of House, Robert Clarke and John Herde, handled their responsibilities with much efficiency and class. A heartfelt thanks on behalf of the boys for these two excellent citizens of the College. As always, I must thank the masters who offer themselves for duty in the residence and without whom the residence could not function. The last word must go to the boys of the House; thanks to the majority of you who gave of yourself in a positive and conscientious manner.

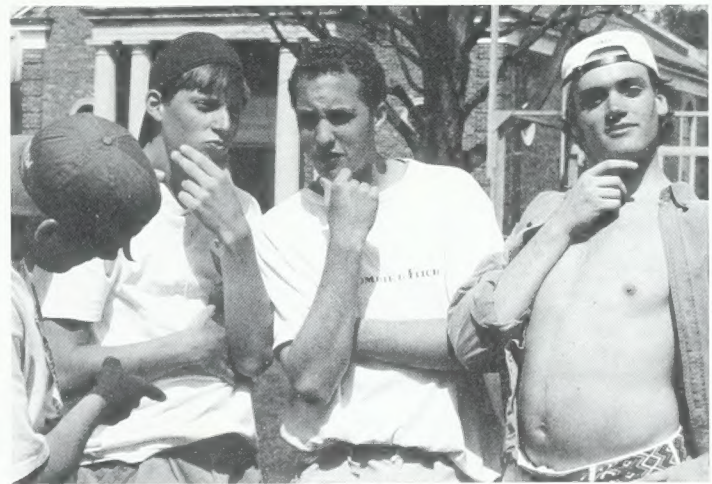

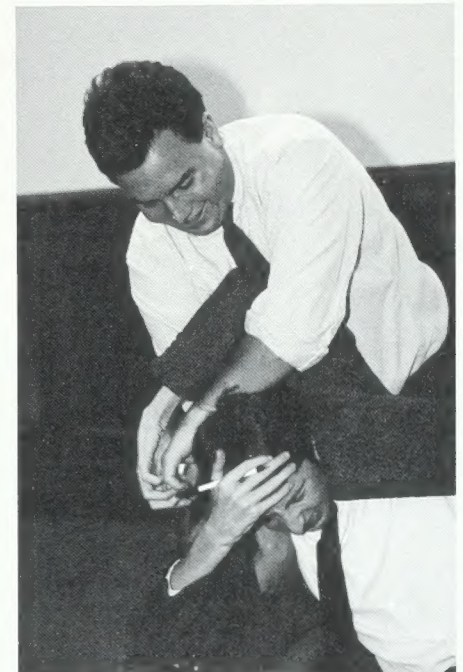

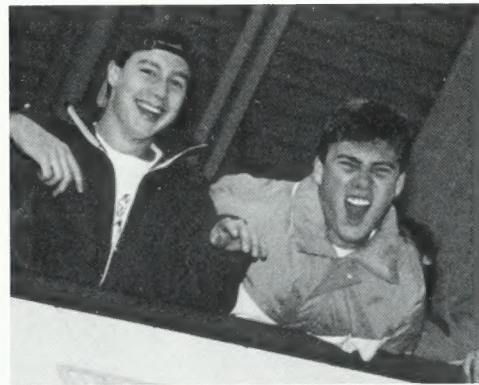

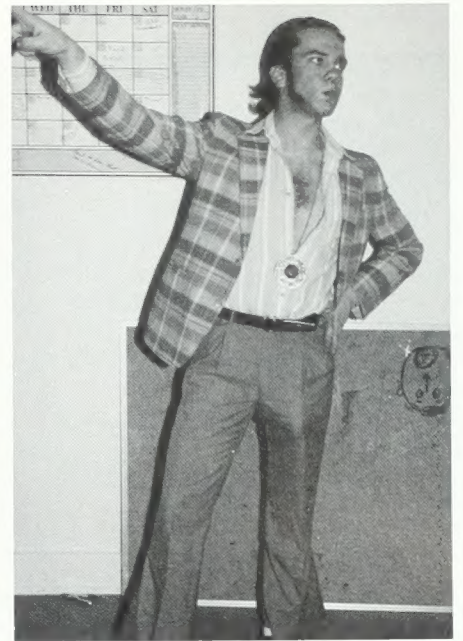

Mr. Hanson
